SHIP EXEMPTION AMENDMENT LOST BY 2,230 VOTES

Other Four Constitutional Amendments, Passed on at Last Election, Ratified by People of Georgia.

PHIL COOK LEADS FIELD IN STATE HOUSE VOTE

Although Returns Are Not Yet Available, Hugh Dorsey's Vote for Governor Will Probably Reach 150,000.

Returns consolidated in the office of Secretary of State Phil Cook Thursday from every county in the state, with the exception of Pickens, Pierce and McDuffie, showed that the constitutional amendment to exempt from taxation vessels owned in Georgia and used exclusively for foreign commerce has failed of ratification, while the other four constitutional amendments voted on in the last general election were ratified by a majority vote of the people.

The vote upon the tax exemption amendment was 32,920 for and 35,150 against.

The vote upon the constitutional amendments and upon the state house officers, with the exception of governor, which vote must be consolidated by the legislature when it next convenes, had been consolidated in the office of the secretary of state Thursday. Work will begin Friday upon the consolidation of the vote for superior court judges.

Candler county is the only county now missing from the presidential returns in Georgia, the Candler county returns having been sent through error to the president of the senate, which means that the result in this county will not be officially known until the legislature meets.

This fact, however, will not affect Georgia's vote in the presidential election. While there has been no statement from the governor's office upon this situation, it is regarded as likely that he will call upon Candler county to furnish a duplicate copy of the returns from that county in the presidential election.

Cook Leads in Vote.

The consolidation of the vote for state house officers showed that Secretary of State Phil Cook was re-elected to office by the largest vote of any state house officer. This is a record which Secretary Cook has held ever since he was first elected in 1898. Even Murray county, where there may have in the past been some feeling against Secretary Cook because he had to decide the courthouse squabble there several years ago, went solidly for Mr. Cook, although the courthouse affair was mixed up pretty intimately in the race for the legislature, the senate and the judgeship in that county, resulting in a contest in the senatorial primary.

Mr. Cook's total vote was 141,353. Howell C. Harris, socialist, running against him, received 911 votes.

Indications are that Hugh M. Dorsey, governor-elect, has piled up even a higher vote than Mr. Cook. He has everywhere run ahead of the democratic ticket, and some forty or fifty returns which have gone to the secretary of state through error show that Mr. Dorsey is receiving an average of seven or eight votes more than Mr. Cook in the majority of counties. It is expected, therefore, that Mr. Dorsey's vote will be in the neighborhood of 150,000.

State Treasurer W. J. Speer is the first state house official of Georgia to be opposed for re-election by a woman. He was opposed by Miss Bessie Thompson Flannagan. Captain Speer received a total vote of 140,632. Miss Flannagan received a total vote of 775.

The vote upon the constitutional amendment increasing the salaries of the judges of the Clarke, Floyd, Sumter and Muscogee superior courts was ratified by a majority of 16,142 votes, the total consolidated vote being 37,484 for and 21,342 against.

Cheering Thousands Welcome President Home to Washington

Washington, November 16.—The people of Washington and of nearby sections of Maryland and Virginia, gave President Wilson an enthusiastic homecoming celebration tonight in honor of his re-election. More than 10,000 strong they marched from the capitol to the white house to the music of many bands and waving red lights, while vari-colored bombs burst overhead. When they had passed a chorus of 300 voices serenaded the president with "The Star Spangled Banner," "Dixie" and other patriotic melodies.

The celebration was participated in by both men and women members of democratic organizations, government clerks, suffragists, representatives of union labor and citizens generally. Thousands packed the sidewalk and cheered as the parade passed.

The president, with Mrs. Wilson, and a party of relatives, viewed the procession from the northern portico of the white house grounds and the president shook hands with the grand marshal and the president of the District Wilson and Marshall Democratic association, and thanked them for the welcome.

DIPLOMATIC SERVICE WILL BE SHAKEN UP

New Appointments Expected After U. S. Ambassadors and Ministers Resign at the End of Wilson's Present Term.

Washington, November 16.—In accordance with custom in the diplomatic service, American ambassadors and ministers abroad are expected to resign as a sequence to President Wilson's re-election and succession to a new term of office.

Many of them were appointed originally without special knowledge on their part of the peculiar requirements of their posts. Some had no intention of remaining abroad more than one term of four years. In other cases some who expected to make even shorter stays abroad, have from force of circumstances, especially the exigencies of the present war, continued at their posts only to meet the wishes of the state department.

Foreign policies will engross a large part of President Wilson's attention in the immediate future to an extent never contemplated when he first assumed office. It is regarded as essential that in the development of the larger plans of the administration in foreign intercourse, the president should have specially selected ambassadors and ministers to meet the demands in each case.

Fortunately the practice which has become general in the American diplomatic service since President Roosevelt frankly requested the resignations of all of the ambassadors and ministers, will afford President Wilson the necessary opportunity to carry out plans he has projected, involving a very considerable reorganization for the diplomatic service as far as the heads are concerned.

That a considerable number of the incumbents will be asked to remain in office is a certainty, but some do not wish to remain and some have proved unequal to the heavy requirements of their stations. It is said that in the course of one of his informal talks to newspaper men some time ago President Wilson had precisely this situation in the diplomatic service in mind when he remarked "some men grow in office and others swell up."

It is expected that the general tender of resignations in the near future will relieve President Wilson from the necessity of adopting the course taken by President Roosevelt and calling directly for the resignations.

DAVIS A SUICIDE AT BLAKELY HOME FOLLOWING LOSSES

Blakely, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—Wood F. Davis, aged about 60 years, a well-known resident of Blakely, committed suicide with a revolver at Bluffton, 11 miles north of here, this afternoon about 2 o'clock. It is reported that Mr. Davis had lost heavily recently by selling cotton futures. This is thought to be the cause of his act. He was the father of Dr. F. P. Davis, one of the most prominent dentists of Blakely. His wife and several children survive him. The funeral will take place at Bluffton tomorrow.

CAPTAIN E. S. GAY DIED LAST NIGHT

Prominent Atlanta Insurance Man Retired From Active Business Over Two Years Ago.

Captain Edward S. Gay, for many years one of the leading insurance men of the south, and one of Atlanta's most prominent citizens, died last night at 10:45 o'clock at the residence, 26 Currier street.

Captain Gay had been in poor health for several years following an attack of acute indigestion. His recent illness, however, began just about six weeks ago.

About seven years ago he suffered from a stroke of paralysis. A second stroke came four years ago, and the third on Thursday morning.

Third Paralytic Stroke.

Following the third paralytic stroke his condition rapidly became worse, and early last night it became apparent that his death was only a matter of a few hours.

Captain Gay was born in Richmond, Va., in 1846. When the war between the states began he was too young for service, but before the struggle was over a company of boys, called the boy cadets of Richmond, was organized, with E. S. Gay as captain, and this organization served until the end of the war with credit. The company was known as Company G of the Third Virginia regiment, C. S. A.

Soon after the civil war closed Captain Gay went to Dallas, Texas, where he entered the fire insurance business as local agent and adjuster. There he married Miss Sallie Ewell, of Dallas.

In 1872 he was made state agent for the Insurance Company of North America. In 1875 he was appointed manager of the southern department of this company and he came to Atlanta to make his home. He had lived here ever since.

In 1890, while retaining the position with the Insurance Company of North America, he became southern manager for the Philadelphia Underwriters and for the Alliance Insurance company of Philadelphia.

Retires From Business.

He held these positions until November, 1914, when he retired from active business.

Captain Gay had never sought public office. He was deeply interested, however, in all lines of insurance endeavor, in church work and in the Y. M. C. A., of which he served as president. He was one of the organizers of the Southeastern Underwriters' association and acted as president in 1898-1900. He was a devout member of the St. Luke's Episcopal church. Captain Gay was a member of the Royal Arch Masons.

He is survived by his wife, four daughters, Mrs. Inman Sanders, Mrs. Thomas B. Paine, Mrs. John W. Somerville, and Mrs. Philip H. Kunzig of Philadelphia; two sons, Ewell and Edward, Jr.; one sister, Mrs. Mary Caskie, of Richmond; a cousin, T. B. Gay, and a nephew, Charles C. Fleming, of University, Va.

PARDON IS FAVORED FOR DR. M'NAUGHTON

Prison Board Acts by Vote of 2 to 1 and Petition Goes to Governor.

Whether or not Dr. W. J. McNaughton, who is serving a life term for the murder of Fred Flanders several years ago in Emanuel county, shall complete his term or shall be pardoned is now up to Governor Nat E. Harris.

Following the hearing Thursday of a new petition for clemency for McNaughton, the state prison commission reaffirmed its recommendation which was declined several years ago by Governor John M. Slaton, voting two to one in favor of pardon.

Judge T. E. Patterson, of the commission, voted against clemency. Judges R. E. Davison and E. L. Rainey, taking the position that evidence at the trial was not, in their opinion, sufficient to convict, voted for clemency.

Judge F. H. Saffold, of Swainsboro, appeared in behalf of Dr. McNaughton. Williams & Bradley, of Swainsboro, appeared, by brief, against the petition.

THOUSANDS OF BALES SELL AT NEW PRICE IN GEORGIA MARKETS

Thousands of bales of cotton throughout the state of Georgia changed hands in large lots Thursday, the price paid being twenty cents per pound. Reports coming from all sections of the state indicate a seemingly unceasing demand for the staple, practically regardless of price.

Some of the reports follow:

Augusta, Ga., November 16.—An Augusta cotton house today sold to exporters one lot of 2,500 bales of cotton. The lot averaged government middling grade, and brought 20 cents per pound, the transaction involving a money consideration of approximately a quarter of a million dollars. This is the record sale in the Augusta market.

Macon, Ga., November 16.—Following the sale of 8,000 bales of cotton at 20 cents a pound here today the price of spot cotton jumped to 20½ cents, the highest in many years.

Buena Vista, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—The largest cotton deal ever made in this market was consummated here by S. H. Carlisle, for Weil Bros., of Montgomery, buying 2,110 bales all at twenty cents per pound.

The transaction netted the sellers $211,000.

West Point, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—One of the largest sales of cotton ever made in West Point took place today, when a thousand bales changed hands. This represented a hundred thousand dollar transaction. The cotton was sold by J. J. Hagedorn and Eady Baker Grocery company to the chain of cotton mills here of which Mr. George H. Lanier is vice president.

Deutschland Slips Out of New London Bound for Bremen

New London, November 17.—The Deutschland, the German submarine which arrived here on November 1, slipped out of the harbor at an early hour today bound for Bremen. She left her pocket at the State Pier at 1:30 o'clock and was towed down the harbor by two tugs.

Captain F. Hinsch and other officials of the Eastern Forwarding company were on one of the tugs. A launch filled with newspaper men followed the subersible down the Thames river to the mouth of the harbor.

The Deutschland passed the United States cruiser Columbia in the lower harbor at 1:45 o'clock. Several passing steamers and the Columbia turned their searchlights on the boat and blew their whistles.

While the manifest of the Deutschland's cargo has not yet been made public it is estimated that its approximate value is over $2,000,000. The cargo consists largely of crude rubber, nickel, zinc and silver bars. She also carries several sacks of mail from the German embassy at Washington. Some of the mail was said to be for the German emperor.

STRIKE UNLIKELY, SAYS UNION CHIEF

Only Remote Possibility, No Matter What Happens to Adamson Law, George Sines Declares.

New York, November 16.—George Sines, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, in a statement here today said a railroad strike is a remote possibility no matter what happens to the Adamson eigh-hour law. The brotherhood leaders, he declared, have not even considered calling a strike in answer to the injunction proceedings by the railroads.

"If the supreme court decides the Adamson law is unconstitutional the brotherhoods will be right back where they were before the law was passed," said Mr. Sines.

"I doubt if the court decision would revivify the strike vote taken by the brotherhoods. In all probability, although I cannot say for a certainty that it is so, the unions would have to take a new vote on a strike."

ADAMSON MEASURE TO BE DISCUSSED.

Washington, November 16.—Discussion of the railroad situation and particularly the Adamson eight-hour law from the standpoint of the country's business interests will begin here tomorrow at a special meeting of the national council of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Several hundred representatives of commercial organizations are expected and many prominent speakers are on the program.

The meeting was called to have business interests affiliated with the chamber express their views just before the joint congressional committee appointed to investigate railroad questions meets here next week.

In addition to the Adamson law, questions of strike prevention and wage fixing by common carrier employees by the interstate commerce commission will be taken up.

Department of justice attorneys today continued working on details of the government defense to railroad suits attacking the constitutionality of the Adamson act. It is probable that an effort will be made to take one of the suits to the supreme court as quickly as possible, so that a final determination that will be binding upon all lower federal tribunals may be had near January 1, when the law, unless enjoined, becomes operative. So far as the department is informed, the first suits set for hearing are those of the Santa Fe and the Union Pacific railroads at Kansas City November 25. They probably will be the first heard and any effort to expedite a supreme court hearing would be based upon the lower court decisions in them.

IS HELD PRISONER FOR SHOOTING NEGRO WHO "MADE FACES"

Macon, Ga., November 16.—(Special.) D. D. Ford, a resident of Vineville, who created considerable excitement in the business portion of the city yesterday, when he shot at a negro on Second street, is being detained under guard at a local hotel until word can come from relatives at Miami, Fla., as to the disposition they desire to make of him.

Ford is said to be mentally unbalanced and a writ of lunacy will be taken out for him, either by his relatives or by the city authorities.

After the shooting yesterday, Ford said he fired at the negro because he "grinned at me." He is also alleged to have attacked several other persons, whom he claims "made faces" at him.

INITIATION STUNT COST KENNY'S LIFE; DAMAGES FOR WIDOW

Montgomery, Ala., November 16.—In a decision today the supreme court upheld the decision of the lower court in awarding the estate of Donald A. Kenny a verdict of $18,000 because Kenny lost his life while being initiated in the Order of Moose in Birmingham. The estate maintained that an excessive electric shock administered during the initiation caused Kenny's death. The suit was brought against the supreme lodge of the world, Loyal Order of Moose.

In reviewing the facts in the case, the decision sets forth that the method of initiation into this order included certain electrical stunts, one known as the "branding stunt," and another the "prize ring."

It is stated that it was during one of these kinds of initiation features that Kenny received too heavy a current, which resulted in his death.

BELGIAN MINISTER ASKS INTERVENTION BY UNITED STATES

Havenith Urges America to Take Active Steps to Prevent Further Deportation of Civilians Into Germany.

SAYS BELGIANS FORCED TO FIGHT OWN COUNTRY

Unemployment in Belgium Due to Fact That Germany Has Requisitioned Material, He Charges.

Washington, November 16.—An appeal for active intervention by the United States to stop the deportation of Belgian workmen into Germany was presented to the state department today by E. Havenith, the Belgian minister. The Belgians, Mr. Havenith said, practically are being compelled to fight against their own country, contrary to the laws of nations and humanity.

The American government already has interested itself in this situation, and Charge Grew, of the embassy at Berlin, has been instructed to discuss it personally with Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg. No formal representations are authorized, but the charge is directed to point out to the chancellor that Germany's course would have an unfortunate effect upon neutral opinion, particularly in the United States, where great interest is felt in the Belgians.

Minister's Communication.

Minister Havenith submitted the following communication to the state department:

"The German governor general in Belgium is forcing thousands of Belgian workmen who are unemployed or without work to go to Germany to work in the quarries, in manufacturing concrete and in the lime kilns, under pretext that they are a charge upon public charity.

"The Belgian government protests energetically against this coercive measure, which is contrary to the law of nations and the law of humanity.

"The government of the king asks the active intervention of the government of the United States to obtain the cessation of this deportation of Belgian workmen into Germany and to obtain the liberation of those who have been already deported.

"The Germans claim that these workmen are not employed in war industries. It should be remarked, however, that they are employed in industries directly connected with the war and that the employment of this Belgian labor releases a great number of German workmen who are sent to the front. Thus these Belgian workmen are compelled practically to fight against their own country."

He Blames Germany.

In making public the communication the minister issued the following statement:

"The Belgian minister calls the attention to the fact that the unemployment of Belgian workmen is due entirely to the action of the German government, which has requisitioned all the supplies of raw materials and destroyed the industrial plants by removing the machinery. The German government has absolutely paralyzed all business in Belgium; furthermore, the German government, which claims to try to encourage Belgian industry has imposed a war tax of 40,000,000 francs a month (about twenty times the normal amount of Belgian taxation) for the past two years, upon a country which is without business and which Germany herself has impoverished by war and devastation."

20.25 FOR COTTON IN ATLANTA MARKET BREAKS ALL RECORDS

Breaking all previous high records for the season and for any time since the civil war, Atlanta spot cotton reached 20.25 Thursday. Both the Atlanta Commercial Exchange and the Atlanta Warehouse company reported this as the price for the day. According to the Atlanta Warehouse company, approximately 2,000 bales were sold at that figure, and the demand seems to continue.

It is of interest to note that on the same day two years ago the spot cotton in Atlanta was quoted at 7 1-2 cents per pound.

The spot market here seemed to reflect the gains made in future markets in New York and New Orleans, where heavy gains in futures were reported for the day. In New York, December reached 20.40; January, 20.50; Marc, 20.64; May, 20.80, and July, 20.78. These prices represent a net gain of 30 to 37 points from Wednesday's close. New Orleans futures rose to a net gain of 33 to 38 points with July reaching 20.51.

VA. BAPTISTS PROTEST

Criticize Alleged Limiting of Worship Among Troops.

Norfolk, Va., November 16.—The Baptist General Association of Virginia today adopted a paper protesting against the action of General Funston, in command on the Mexican border, who is alleged to have sent word to Rev. Dr. J. B. Gambrell, representing the Texas Baptist state board, who applied for permission to conduct religious services among the soldiers, that he could do so but must not tell them they were "lost sinners."

Similar action was taken Tuesday by Georgia Baptists in convention at Commerce.

INTENTION TO KILL DENIED BY TRABUE

Slayer of Stokes Is Sharply Questioned on the Stand in Reference to Events Immediately Preceding Killing.

Nashville, Tenn., November 16.—Charles C. Trabue, who shot and killed Harry S. Stokes, another attorney, in the latter's office April 26, throughout the greater part of today's session of court, was questioned in regard to circumstances arising in 1913 at which time he claimed to have incurred the enmity of Stokes by denouncing him for having violated an agreement. It was not until after noon that he was questioned about the events that happened on the day of the killing.

"You regarded your characterization of Mr. Stokes' lawsuit as 'misbegotten and due for an over-ripe grave' as very mild and complimentary language, didn't you?" the attorney general asked.

"I did not. I intended it to be emphatic, but not offensive," he answered.

"You had no reference in that statement to the fact that Harry Stokes himself would go into the grave two days later?"

"Of course, you know I did not."

In regard to the retraction of alleged insults Trabue wrote out on the morning of the killing and carried to Stokes' office, the attorney general asked:

"Mr. Trabue, what did you expect Mr. Stokes to do in the event he repeated the offense and you denounced him publicly in the chancery court as you have said?"

"I never got that far," he replied. "I hoped to avoid that."

"Did you not expect, if it should come to that to shoot him down in the court room?"

"I certainly did not."

Asked about the encounter in Stokes' office Trabue denied that while he was talking to Stokes that he had his hand in his pocket and declared that it was not until after Stokes lunged at him that he reached for his pistol. He said that he could not undertake to describe their positions in the room after the conflict started; that he only knew that Stokes was crowding him closely, and that his one thought was to hold on to his pistol and to shoot. He said that he could not describe the position of either himself or Stokes at the time any of the shots were fired and that he only knew from hearing it repeatedly said by other witnesses that three shots were fired.

CABRERA HOLDING UP BORDER CONTROL PLAN

Balks Though Paper and Ribbons Are All Ready for Agreement.

Atlantic City, N. J., November 16.—All efforts of the American representatives on the Mexican-American joint commission to persuade Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican representation, to abandon his opposition to the plan of border control approved in general by his colleagues failed today. The other members of the commission had not lost hope tonight and the conference will be continued, but there was absent the note of optimism which characterized the close of the sessions yesterday.

Mr. Cabrera met with the commission today for the first time since Tuesday.

Before they left their room tonight after a long session, the commissioners agreed that they would say nothing regarding the day's talk. Mr. Cabrera met the newspaper men and told them he had agreed "not to say one word" to the press. A few minutes later Secretary Lane, chairman of the American commission, made a similar statement.

It became known, however, that virtually the entire day was spent in argument calculated to convince Mr. Cabrera of the advisability of indorsing the plan and to make clear to him the danger in which continued opposition might place his government. Mr. Cabrera was ready with counter suggestions which, it is understood, are regarded by the Americans as impossible for them to accept.

All was ready for the formal preparation of an agreement. These had been forwarded from Washington a supply of the special paper on which treaties are written and even the green, white and red ribbons, the colors of Mexico, were purchased today for binding the sheets, but there appeared little prospect tonight of their early use.

FIVE MILLIONS LOANED TO CHINESE GOVERNMENT

Washington, November 16.—A loan of $5,000,000 sold has been made by the Continental and Commercial National bank, of Chicago, to the Chinese government through its minister here, Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo. The Chinese legation announced today that the money already had been placed to the credit of the Chinese government.

Berlin Admits Retirement in Cerna Region—Town of Karakaska Taken by Britons—Austro-Germans Are Driving Rumanians in Transylvania.

FORCES OF MACKENSEN ARE BURNING VILLAGES IN DOBRUDJA RETREAT

Bombardments Feature the Fighting Along Eastern Front—Both Italians and Austrians Claiming Successes East of Gorizia.

New York, November 16.—(By Associated Press European Cable.)—In the Macedonian theater the entente troops continue to press the Teutonic allies in the Cerna river region, and, according to the Serbian war office, have seriously broken their line both east and west of the Cerna southeast of Monastir, capturing four additional villages east of the river and on the western side driving them back from several additional points toward Monastir. Berlin admits that in the Cerna region the Bulgarian-German forces have left old and occupied newly prepared positions. To the east the British have taken the town of Karakaska, on the east side of Lake Tahinos.

The Austro-German armies in the Transylvania theater in the Alt and Jiul valleys have forced a further retirement of the Rumanians and also have made progress in the Rothenthurm and Szurduk pass regions, taking 1,200 men prisoner. On the west Moldavia front Russian attacks east of the Putna valley were put down by the Teutonic allies, as also was an offensive in the vicinity of the Oituz pass.

RUSSIANS CLAIM FURTHER SUCCESSES.

While Berlin asserts that there have been only minor engagements in Dobrudja, Petrograd reports that the Russians have made further progress southward and that the Teutonic allies continue to retreat, burning villages behind them. Denial is made by Berlin of the assertions that the Rumanians have captured the town of Bonasclo, on the Danube.

Bombardments are taking place along the entire eastern front in Russia and Galicia, according to the Petrograd war office. Berlin reports a repulse of a Russian attack southeast of Riga.

The situation east of Gorizia is made somewhat obscure by the variant claims of the Vienna and Rome war offices, both of which recorded successes for their respective armies. Vienna asserts that the Austrians have captured another Italian trench in this district together with sixty prisoners and two machine guns, while Rome records the reoccupation of trenches evacuted by the Italians Tuesday.

FRENCH AND RUSS TROOPS APPROACH CITY OF MONASTIR

Paris, November 16.—French and Russian troops on the Macedonian front are now within four miles of Monastir, it was announced officially. The war office says the pursuit of the defeated Bulgarians continues.

On the eastern end of the line British troops have again assumed the offensive, defeating the Bulgarians in the region of the Struma and capturing the village of Karakaska.

During the night the Bulgarians abandoned their principal positions west of the Cerna river. The French and Serbians took 400 prisoners and made progress toward Yarashok in the Cerna bend west of Monastir.

South of Monastir the French and Russians are reported to be making substantial progress. It is in this region to the north of Kenali that they

Buy-right hints for the housewife

Practical Buying Now---Or Helter-Skelter Shopping Later On.

Swiftly speeding by are the alloted pre-Christmas shopping days—right now they may be well termed "practical" buying days; because you can now select from the full fruitage of variety, leisurely, and avoid the harrowing distractions the closing days of the season will precipitate. Even now the aisles of the big stores are thronging with busy shoppers; and each day from now on increasing patronage is going to break all previous pre-Christmas shopping records—and before you'll be able to realize it, you'll be caught in that very crush that you've on more than one occasion, no doubt, solemnly promised yourself never to be caught in again. So, for peace of mind, preference in selection, economy of pocket, get on your "shopping togs" today and invade the citadels of Christmas joys—all of which are Atlanta's most representative stores and shops that advertise their lowest prices in The Constitution.

NOTE—The CONSTITUTION guarantees a marked saving on every purchase made in Atlanta in stores that advertise their lowest prices in these pages.

have advanced to within four miles of Monastir.

The statement follows:

"Macedonian front: On the Struma front British forces have captured, after a brilliant engagement, the village of Karakaska, on the eastern side of Lake Takinos. The Bulgarians are withdrawing on the left bank of the Brook of Nihor.

"On the Cerna front in spite of rain and snow our offensive has continued victoriously in the bend of the river. Here the fighting was of extreme severity. The violent counter attacks of the German-Bulgarian troops delivered during the night of November 14-15 did not succeed at any point in penetrating our advance and they resulted in very heavy losses for the enemy. Four hundred German prisoners are now in our hands.

"Franco-Serbian troops, continuing their success north of Tepavtsi, have made progress in the direction of Yarashok.

"West of the Cerna the enemy, under the influence of our artillery fire and the energetic pressure exerted upon them by our infantry, abandoned last night their principal position. This they had been fortifying for a period of two months.

"Franco-Russian forces pursuing the enemy in the plain to the north of Kenali have reached the right bank of the River Viro, six kilometers (four miles) south of Monastir. We have occupied the villages of Jabyani, Porodin and Velushina (near the Viro, south of Monastir)."

TROOPS WITHDRAWN, BERLIN ADMITS.

Berlin, November 16.—(Via Sayville.) The retirement of German-Bulgarian troops in Macedonia to new positions prepared for them in the Cerna region is announced today by the war office.

SERBIANS BREAK TEUTON LINES.

Saloniki, November 16.—Via London.) The Serbian official communication issued today says:

"We continued to pursue the enemy yesterday on the left bank of the Cerna river. Supported by fresh troops the enemy made a strong stand on the line of Ivan-Yarashok, which had long since been forfitied. After determined fighting we succeeded in breaking seriously into this line at several points. The villages of Chegel, Baldentsi, Negochani and Yarashok Monastery have been wrested from the enemy.

"On the right bank of the Cerna the enemy has been compelled to abandon his principal line of organized defense and retire in the direction of Monastir. The Bulgarians have been driven from the villages of Bukri, Gorn-Jegri, Sredno-Jegri and Don-Jegri, as well as from the town of Kenali. We have taken 500 Bulgarians and Germans prisoner and captured several machine guns and other war material."

BULGARIAN RETREAT ADMITTED BY SOFIA.

Sofia, November 16.—(Via London.)—The retreat of the German-Bulgarian forces in the Cerna bend under the assaults of the Serbians is admitted in the official statement issued by the war office today. According to the statement the Bulgarians have fallen back on a line four to six miles west of Ivon, the last town west of the Cerna reported captured by the Serbians. The statement follows:

"All day our position in the Monastir plain was subjected to a violent enemy artillery fire, especially east of the railway. Vigorous enemy attacks failed before the obstinate resistance of our troops and the enemy who penetrated our lines at some points was annihilated. We counted over 400 dead in front of one of our battalions.

"In the Cerna bend heavy fighting took place and the Bulgarian and German troops withdrew to positions north of Tepavtsi and Obegal. Nothing of importance occurred elsewhere except artillery activity near Turtukai and Silistria."

GERMANS REPULSE RUSSIAN ATTACKS.

Berlin, November 16.—(Via Sayville.) An attack by Russian troops on the German lines southeast of Riga on the Russian front was repulsed, the war office announced in today's official statement.

Berlin, November 16.—(Via Sayville.) Russian troops in strong force attacked the Austro-German lines east of the Putna valley on the western Moldavian border, the war office announced today. The attacks were fruitless, the announcement declares.

The statement follows:

"Transylvanian East Front: East of the Putna valley strong Russian attacks failed.

"North of Lulta, Austro-Hungarian detachments made a reconnoitering raid against Moun Alunis.

"Near Sosmezoc, in the Oitus pass region, Rumanian attacks were without success.

"The activity north of Campulung increased. Along the roads leading southward through Rothenthurm and Szurdez passes, the Rumanians tenaciously defended their own territory. We made progress yesterday and captured five officers and more than 1,200 soldiers.

"Army Group of Field Marshal von Mackensen: In Dobrudja there were minor engagements of advanced detachments.

"The Rumanian report of the occupation of Bonasoio (Boasio) is an invention.

"At several places along the River Danube there were artillery duels.

"Macedonian Front: Prepared new positions in the River Cerna sector were occupied. On the Struma river there were skirmishes of patrols."

ARTILLERY ACTIVE ON RUSSIAN FRONT.

Petrograd, November 16.—(Via London.)—An artillery bombardment is proceeding all along the Russian front, the war office reports.

The statement reads:

"An artillery bombardment is taking place over the whole front. In the neighborhood of Lake Narocz and on several sections along the River Stokhod this bombardment was above the average intensity. In the region north of Chelvov our artillery, using shells charged with chemicals, successfully bombarded the enemy's position.

"On the Narayuvka river, in the region of the village of Lipnicadolna (southeast of Lemberg) the Germans made an energetic attack in an endeavor to capture the position we took yesterday. Two successive assaults were beaten back by our fire."

RUMANIANS RETIRE IN TRANSYLVANIA.

Bucharest, November 16.—(Via London.)—Rumania's forces operating in southern Transylvania yesterday retired towards Areful and Radacinesti, in the Alt valley and in the direction of Capacioasa, in the Jiul valley, according to an official statement issued today by the Rumanian war department.

A violent attack on the Rumanian lines in the district northeast of Campulung was repulsed with heavy loss to the assulting forces.

Conditions along the Danube are reported unchanged.

The statement reads:

"On the western Moldavian frontier the enemy attacked without success at several points. We took 80 prisoners and captured two machine guns.

"On the northern frontier from Lamuntelu to the Prahova valley, inclusive, there have been unimportant actions and artillery bombardments.

"In the region of Dragoslavele the enemy attacked violently. He was repulsed with heavy losses.

"In the valley of the Alt violent engagements took place on the left bank. Our troops were withdrawn toward Areful and Radacinesti. On the right bank we have maintained our position.

"In the region of Jiul we also retired in the direction of Capacioasa, southeast of Targujiu, and of Carbesti, south of Targujiu.

"On the Cerna there have been patrol actions and feeble artillery bombardments.

"Conditions along the Danube are unchanged."

MACKENSEN'S ARMY FORCED TO RETREAT.

Petrograd, November 16.—(Via London.)—The war office announces that Field Marshal von Mackensen's army is in retreat in Dobrudja, burning villages as it falls back. On the Transylvanian front in the region of Campulung, Rumania, fierce fighting is in progress.

The statement reads:

"Transylvania: In the region north of Tolesh (south of Dorna Watra) the enemy took the offensive, but was repulsed by our rifle and machine gun fire. After a stubborn battle our troops captured from the enemy a fortified height southeast of Tolsh and took prisoner one officer and 180 men, and captured three machine guns.

"In the region of Capulung fierce fighting is continuing. The enemy, who is supporting his attacks by bombardments with a great number of heavy guns, is suffering enormous losses and and all enemy attacks up to the present have been beaten back. The Rumanians are holding their positions.

"In the valleys of the Rivers Alt and Jiul obstinate fighting has taken place.

"Dobrudja: We have made further progress southward. The retreating army continues to set fire to Rumanian villages."

The secretary reported 330 delegates present, the smallest number in twenty years. The convention adjourned at 11 o'clock to meet in Newnan.

WHAT IS NEEDED?

DR. HARVEY WILEY SAYS: "The alimentary canal (strictly speaking) is the whole digestive tract, and is the most troublesome canal in the world, and without proper eliminations it becomes the home of the most remarkable family of bacteria that are known, secreting poisons which threaten health and even life.

"The worst evil from which the alimentary canal suffers, however, is the impactation of its contents to such a degree as to produce the common disease of constipation."

A most thorough study of this alimentary canal shows that constipation causes headache lassitude, nervous exhaustion, sleeplessness, bad breath and torpid liver.

What is needed is a safe and safe liver stimulant. JACOBS' LIVER SALT will correct all the evils that result from constipation, promoting the proper flow through the alimentary canal, giving proper and permanent relief to constipation

LULL IN FIGHTING IN ANCRE REGION

New York, November 16.—(By Associated Press European Cable.)—In the Ancre region of France, where since Monday British have made notable gains over the Germans, the fighting apparently has lessened greatly in violence, the latest British communication reporting only bombardments by the Germans of their newly won front to the north of the stream. An additional six officers and 297 men have been made prisoner by the British in this region during the last 24 hours.

To the southeast at Saillisel, where the Germans had occupied a group of houses northeast of the village, the French now have driven them out in a counter attack, according to the French official communication.

On the remainder of the front in France, especially in the regions of Ablaincourt and between Le Sars and Gueudecourt, there were violent bombardments of British and French positions by the Germans, while the French hammered the German front in the Souchez and Armentieres sectors.

FRENCH RECAPTURE THE VILLAGE TAKEN IN GERMAN ATTACK

Paris, November 16.—The French last night recaptured the portion of the village of Pressoire from which the Germans occupied yesterday, the war office announces.

The bulletin issued by the war office tonight reads:

"On the Somme front some enemy detachments which had succeeded in taking foot in a group of houses northeast of the village of Saillisel were driven out by a spirited counter attack.

"The artillery struggle continued violent in the region of Ablaincourt. Everywhere else the day was calm.

"On November 15 one of our air pilots brought down an enemy machine near Chaulnes."

GERMANS BEAT OFF BRITISH ATTACKS.

Berlin, November 16.—(Via Sayville.) Attacks by British troops on the German lines along the road from Mailly to Serre, and also to the southeast of Beaumont, north of the River Ancre, were beaten off by the Germans in hand grenade fighting, the war office announced today. Strong British forces attacked Grandcourt, but the assault broke down under the German fire.

South of the Somme the eastern section of Saillisel section was taken from the French, and French trenches on the northern edge of St. Pierre-Vaast wood were captured, together with more than 300 prisoners and five machine guns.

SYNOD TO DISSOLVE FRASER HIGH SCHOOL

Dalton, Ga., November 16.—(Special.) The Donald Fraser High school at Decatur faces dissolution and the synod's share of the proceeds will be used to establish a professorship at Oglethorpe university, following the report for that institution made to the Presbyterian synod Thursday. Trustees of the corporation were instructed by the synod to take steps looking toward the dissolution of the school as soon as possible.

One of the principal addresses of the day was that of Carl Lehman, general secretary of the Young People's society of the Christian Endeavor. Mr. Lehman's address gave a history of the work and growth of the society and brought forth cheers when he revealed the great strides made in the all-south campaign for societies. According to Mr. Lehman, the organization for the first time has provided for a foreign missionary.

The devotional exercises of the synod Thursday were in charge of Dr. R. S. Sanders, of Thomasville. After regular business, the morning session was taken up in consideration of the work of home missions and evangelism within the state. Rev. R. O. Flinn is chairman of this branch of the synod's work.

Following the addresses, standing committees were appointed as follows:

Hills and Overtures—J. R. Sevier, D. M. McIver, J. M. Hodgson, G. W. Harrison.

Judicial Business—W. E. Hill, R. C. Reed, E. D. Patton, H. H. Dean, J. H. Grover.

Theological Seminary—W. M. Scott, S. W. Dubose, J. E. Humphreys, J. O. Stokely, Irvine Alexander.

Finance—L. L. J. Smith, D. P. Brown, W. C. Humphreys.

Excuses and Leave of Absence—I. S. McElroy, R. E. Carson, James Bradley, Frank Williamson, L. Q. Livingston.

Presbyterial Records—Athens, W. A. Murray, G. R. Buford, J. A. White; Atlanta, E. M. Monroe, Jr., J. A. Simpson, W. M. Denton; Augusta, E. D. Patton, J. R. McAlpine, C. S. Wood; Cherokee, S. L. McCarty, J. W. Stokes, W. L. Skelton; Macon, J. R. McMullen, T. M. Stribling, J. O. Stokely; Savannah, E. M. Craig, C. L. Fowers, W. W. Gibson.

Nominations—J. H. Chapman, R. Howard, B. W. Farrar.

New Member Arrangements Committee—A. A. Little.

In the past two years, it was declared in the meeting yesterday, the state missions have grown six times faster than in years previous.

The synod went on record by way of a resolution condemning lynch law in the land. It was declared to be barbaric—even savage, and against the ideals and principles of a civilized nation.

Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, of Oglethorpe university, addressed the synod. At the close of his address he was given a rising vote as an expression of the esteem of his hearers.

Friday morning Dr. W. P. Jacobs, aged president of the Thornwell orphanage, will address the assembly.

"The House of Glass" Proves Best Acted Play of Season

"The House of Glass," which played its opening performance at the Atlanta theater last night, is, without qualification, the best-acted play that has come to Atlanta this season. Very suggestive of, but not at all based upon "Within the Law" and "On Trial," "The House of Glass" is quite as absorbing and exciting as either of these predecessors. One of the largest audiences that has been to the Atlanta theater this year got a dozen thrills last night which they will not soon forget.

"The House of Glass" is the story of an innocent girl convicted of a crime, who afterwards broke parole, hid her identity and married a man whose principle is that a criminal has no place in the social or economic scheme of things save that of atonement for his error without the sympathy of those who have been less unfortunate. Then comes the long-silent fight to keep the hounding police from discovering who she really is and revealing her record to her husband.

Melodramatic "The House of Glass" is in a very businesslike way and without the maudlin sentimentality that makes the common conception of melodrama uninteresting. "The House of Glass" grinds and pounds upon the emotions more mercilessly than any play which Atlanta has seen in a long while.

The cast is ideally selected. Adelina O'Connor, as Margaret Case, the central figure of the play, carries her audience by storm. There is no extraordinary charm of physical beauty or trick of mannerism to aid her. She is just an ordinary sort of first-class, thoroughgoing woman undergoing a strain so tremendous and acting it so well that her audience could all but speak out and plead for her.

The entire cast is by far the most convincing set of people Atlanta has seen on the other side of the footlights in a long while. A great deal could be said of the work of such of the cast as Dwight T. Meade, Robert Middlemass, Clyde Fogel, Charles Reigel and Bertram Miller.

Last night after the show, Homer George, manager of the Atlanta theater, declared that what he advertised about any one not liking the show getting his money back goes double now. Homer doesn't play any deuces in the hole.

"The House of Glass" will be seen at the Atlanta at night performances Friday and Saturday with a matinee Saturday.

NED McINTOSH.

"Common Clay."

(At the Atlanta.)

Another sensational A. H. Woods triumph will be seen at the Atlanta theater, when "Common Clay," fresh from its phenomenal success at the Republic theater, is presented for an engagement of three nights and matinee, beginning Monday night. "Common Clay" needs little introduction. Its brilliant New York career has already established it as one of the few permanent contributions of the contemporary theater. Dealing as it does with a momentous problem of society, it is one of those few plays which not only help the problem, but which themselves derive tremendous dramatic and emotional value from the problems they discuss. A brilliant cast will be seen here, including Catherine Tower, W. A. Whitecar, George Tilton, Raymond Bramley, James J. Cassidy, Edward Leahy, Tessie Lawrence, Charlotte Burkett, Pearl Ford and others. Seats now selling.

Asana Students.

(At the Forsyth.)

A man who can play two accordions at the same time is leader of the Asana students, the big imported musical act that is one of the leading features of the Forsyth Keith vaudeville bill this week. The five members of the company are equally masters of ragtime and "heavy" music, although the former predominates in their act. One of their numbers is the massive descriptive piece, "A Hunt in the Black Forest."

Others on the bill this week are Joe Bogany's Lunatic Bakers; Horace Wright and Rene Dietrich in a new song offering Hugh McCormick and Grace Wallace in an exceptional ventriloquial noveity; Willard Simms in a comedy sketch; Golet, Harris and Morey in a merry musical melange, and the Four Ishikawa Brothers, Japan's famous equilibrists. Manager George H. Hickman announces Clara Morton as next week's headliner.

Loew's Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

Headlined by a lavish scenic and singing spectacle, the Grand bill of Loew's vaudeville this week is drawing immense audiences throughout the day and night, the performance being continuous from 1 until 11 p. m. The Tyrolean Troubadors is the headlining spectacle, and it is one of Europe's most pretentious novelties. Other elaborate acts on the program are Lee Beggs and company in "The Old Folks at Home," an engaging dramatic sketch; Prevost and Goelet, nonsensical gymnasts, in new and amazing feats; Andrew Kelley, the whimsical monologuist; Dunbar and Turner in new songs and gowns. The picture program is exceptional, being featured by Carlyle Blackwell and Ethel Clayton in "The Madness of Helen."

Popular Vaudeville.

(At the Piedmont.)

The bill at the Piedmont theater for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week is up to its usual standard of excellence, and the performances of Thursday were greeted by large and enthusiastic audiences.

Artists, charming and altogether lovely, is the act presented by La Petite Mercedes, the pretty and graceful little lady of the fine clothes and versatile dancing. With a handsome drapery of dark blue velvet as a background and the playing of a well-regulated spot light the pleasing performer and her bejewelled and gorgeous costumes were shown to a splendid advantage, while her dancing was indeed that of a clever artist.

The act presented by the Howard-Graf couple was novel in its arrangement, being composed of some excellent singing of universally popular old tunes by a girl of decided charms. Then some clever juggling by the man.

Muscles, muscles, muscles, have the 3 Regals, who presented an act, well-managed and striking in manner, in which the performers handled things of great weight, and manifested unusual strength in their jaws by holding each other suspended by their teeth. One of the three held suspended from his teeth a 300-pound anvil, on which each of the others beat, apparently with full strength, with a 16-pound sledgehammer.

The act presented by Nan Aker and company showed unusual skill. The scene was that of a railway station in a small town, and an exceedingly small one at that, where the skilled ventriloquist made use of several funny-looking manikins. Their voices and gesticulations, as well as what they said, amused the onlookers considerably.

Another feature of the bill was that presented by the DeVoy-Dayton couple, who presented a comedy sketch.

Altogether the bill was excellent.

DICK BROYLES.

Clara Kimball Young.

(At the Vaudette.)

Have you heard Coombs and Halligan at the Vaudette theater this week? Honestly, this pair is running away with everything, and have scored a ragtime triumph. Their songs are up-to-date, and they'll sing anything you want them to sing, and sing it just like you want to hear it.

As a film hit, Clara Kimball Young will appear today in "Without a Soul," one of her most striking successes. The picture is from the pen of one of America's favorite authors, Owen Davis. Originally presented as a play, its adaption for the pictures has enlarged and improved it to unexpected excellence.

"Stranger From Somewhere."

(At the Strand.)

Lots of dramatic suspense, plenty of swift-moving scenes of supreme comedy, and a finish that is distinctly surprising, will be found in "A Stranger From Somewhere," which will be offered at the Strand theater today.

Farnum has the leading role and it is a dual role. The part is a long one and full of possibilities. The Bluebird company vouches for the strength of the production and assures the filmgoers that it is one of their most interesting releases.

"The Captive God."

(At the Victoria.)

Triangle's massive spectacle, "The Captive God," with the mighty William S. Hart, heads the Victoria's bill today. With the grandeur, the romance, the savage splendor of mediaeval Mexico as a background, Hart moves through a wonderfully absorbing story of love and adventure and heroism. It is little wonder that the production has proved something of a sensation, as it is undoubtedly Hart's greatest screen triumph. No admirer of the stalwart Triangle hero should miss it. A hilarious Keystone comedy, "Pills of Peril," completes the Victoria's bill for the day. The admission remains at 5 cents.

There's An Air of Distinction and Refinement About These

Lately Arrived Suits

During the week we have received a group of suits that we know will appeal strongly to the woman who puts quality and elegance above all other considerations, and who will not be satisfied with anything that compromises her good taste.

Suits that will be a pleasure throughout the season.

Yes, that's the whole story—women who appreciate quiet distinction, grace of line, nicety of trimming, will enjoy them throughout the season.

They are priced at $35.00, $45.00, $50.00, $60.00 to $75.00.

Of broadcloth, of velour, of gabardine in navy, brown, Burgundy, plum and black.

Many of these show mole and beaver, seal and kolinsky trimming, while others are charming entirely through the grace of tailoring.

Corsets Priced at 79c and 98c

Let a woman but see them and it will not be necessary to tell her that ordinarily these corsets would be $1.00 and $1.50.

Both are of coutil, and sturdy coutil it is.

Medium-low and medium-high busts, long skirts; a model for the average figure, a model for the stout figure (coming in sizes up to 36).

* * * *

Mrs. Hoppe, the corsetiere from the factory of La Vida Corsets, is here demonstrating these splendid Corsets. It is the time to be fitted.

CHARLES R. WILSON GAINS 36 POUNDS BY TAKING TANLAC

Was Almost Complete Physical Wreck When He Began Taking It — Now Feels Stronger Than He Ever Has.

"I have actually gained thirty-six pounds on seven bottles of Tanlac, and I now weigh fourteen pounds more than I ever did in my life." This interesting and remarkable statement was made a few days ago by Charles R. Wilson, an artistic sign painter, living at 417 South 19th street, Birmingham, Ala. Mr. Wilson is now a fine specimen of robust health and not only expresses deep gratitude, but is very enthusiastic in his praise of Tanlac for what it has accomplished in his case.

Continuing Mr. Wilson said: "Anyone who has been benefited as Tanlac has benefited me should be willing, for the sake of others, to tell it to the world. About two years ago my health began to fail. At that time I weighed a hundred and fifty pounds. I kept falling off gradually, but I paid little attention to that, as I never thought of getting into any serious condition.

"Then I contracted a severe cough, which got to be very stubborn and kept hanging on. I rocked along for a while and weighed myself again and found I had dropped down to one hundred and thirty-two pounds. Still I didn't get much uneasy, although I could tell I was getting weaker. Finally my appetite left me and I got so I didn't want anything at all to eat. I then became very nervous and my sleep was all broken. All my energy seemed to leave me and I would get up in the mornings all tired out and couldn't eat any breakfast. I just had to drag along and could hardly pull through my day's work. I had never worn suspenders, but I got so thin I had to put them on to keep my clothes from dropping off, and I simply felt miserable all the time. Then I became alarmed and was so worried I didn't know what to do.

"I was living in Chattanooga at this time, and I had heard of so many people there Tanlac had helped I decided to try it. It helped me almost from the start and I knew I had found just what I needed. I believe I started on it 'in the nick of time,' for I was almost a complete physical wreck when I took my first dose. I kept taking it after coming to Birmingham and it has certainly worked wonders for me. It built me right up and put me back in the man's class, even stronger than I ever was. I now weigh one hundred and sixty-eight pounds, which is fourteen pounds more than I ever weighed and thirty-six pounds more than I weighed when I started on Tanlac. I can't eat enough to satisfy me now and I don't think I ever enjoyed my meals like I do now. I sleep like a log at night and the cough and all my nervousness are gone. My strength and energy have returned and my work don't tire me at all. I have never felt in better condition in my whole life and it's all due to the good work of Tanlac."

DR. DUNCAN EVE, SR., HEADS PHYSICIANS

Final Session of Southern Medical Association Held Thursday and Doctors Depart for Their Homes.

Dr. Duncan Eve, Sr., a noted physician of Nashville, was elected president of the Southern Medical association to succeed Dr. Robert Wilson, Jr., of Charleston, at the final session of the association in Atlanta yesterday, and Dr. Stewart Roberts, of Atlanta, chariman of the local arrangements committee, was elected first vice president. Dr. Branford Lewis, of St. Louis, was elected second vice president.

Dr. Seale Harris, of Birmingham, one of the best known and most active members of the association, was re-elected secretary-treasurer and editor of The Southern Medical Journal, in which capacity he has served the association for a number of years. C. P. Loranz, of Birmingham, was re-elected business manager.

Wilson on Trustee Board.

Dr. Wilson, the retiring president, was elected a member of the board of trustees to succeed Dr. B. L. Wyman, of Birmingham, who, being the oldest in point of service on the board, retired, according to custom, that the retiring president might thereby become a member.

After the final session of each of the two sections of the association, officers for the ensuing year were elected.

Of the section on surgery, Dr. F. Webb Griffith, of Asheville, N. C., was elected president; Dr. Jere L. Crook, of Jackson, Tenn., vice president, and Dr. L. H. Landry, of New Orleans, secretary.

The section on public health elected A. T. McCormick, of Bowling Green, Ky., president, and Dr. L. B. McBrayer, of Sanatorium, N. C., secretary.

The section on medicine elected the following: J. L. McLester, of Birmingham, president; Randolph Lyons, of New Orleans, vice president, and J. E. Paullin, of Atlanta, secretary.

T. W. Moore, of Huntington, W. Va., was elected president of the eye, ear, nose and thoat section; E. H. Cary, of Dallas, Texas, vice president, and W. T. Patton, of New Orleans, secretary.

The newly elected officers of the section of the Southern States' Association of Railway Surgeons were chosen and announced on Monday: Dr. Joseph M. Burke, of Petersburg, Va., chief surgeon for the Seaboard Air Line, was elected president; Dr. I. W. Cooper, of Newton, Miss., vice president, and Dr. Ambrose McCoy, of Jackson, Tenn., secretary-treasurer.

It was announced at the closing session that $10,000 had been subscribed for the purpose of paying an indebtedness on The Southern Medical Journal, which amount will pay the debt, and will leave a balance of $3,500.

Medal Given Dr. Horseley.

An honor was paid Dr. Shelton Horseley, of Richmond, by the convention in presenting him a gold medal in recognition of his services in original research, the doctor having done some notable work in operations on blood vessels and intestines. Dr. Robert Wilson, Jr., made the presentation speech, which was responded to by a modest speech of acceptance. Dr. J. J. Simmons, of Dallas, Texas, a prominent dentist, and president of the State Dental colege, of Dallas, was given a blue ribbon, which was humorously decorated. The doctor is well known for his humorous stories in negro dialect.

At Wesley Memorial church Thursday morning an interesting session was held for visiting ladies, members of the Women's club of Atlanta and the general public, at which time Dr. L. Rosa H. Gantt, of Spartanburg, S. C., secretary of the Association of Southern Medical Women, gave an address on adenoids and tonsils, and Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, a noted statistician, and statistician of the Prudential Life Insurance company, of Newark, N. J., spoke on the prevention of cancer.

In summarizing his review of the cancer problem, Dr. Hoffman laid particular emphasis at the outset on the supreme importance of the earliest diagnosis and prompt medical and surgical attention treatment of the disease as a prerequisite of the desired control of the disease. He said that most of the operations in cancer cases were brought to the attention of the surgeon too late. Delay of even a few weeks might constitute the difference between a reasonable chance of life and death. Delay in cancer operation in the light of modern knowledge of the disease and the remarkable results of operative treatment was as unjustifiable, he said, as delay in operation for appendicitis.

Work Done by Women.

Dr. W. S. Leathers, director of public health in the state of Mississippi, told of the work being done in that state by the women in behalf of public health.

Thursday's program in the post-graduate school as the convention has been characterized, was featured by clinics in the morning at Grady hospital and the Atlanta Medical college, by sessions held in the morning by sections on medicine, on surgery and on eye, ear, nose and throat. Also there was symposium on tuberculosis held Thursday morning by the section on medicine, and in the afternoon a symposium on pellagra.

Friday many doctors who will remain over in Atlanta for the purpose, will enjoy a golf tournament at the Druid Hills Golf club. This will be the last of a series of entertainments in which the visiting doctors will have participated.

All expressed appreciation for the treatment they had received while in Atlanta and at the meeting of the board of councillors, a resolution thanking Atlanta and the medical profession of the city for the splendid hospitality received was introduced and unanimously adopted. In the resolution was included mention of the hotels, newspapers and other factors who have helped to make the stay of the doctors in the Gate City a most enjoyable affair.

Leading Railroad Men Consider a Successor To Joseph Richardson

Members of the sub-committee of the executive committee of the Southeastern Passenger association held a short meeting at the Piedmont hotel yesterday morning and informally discussed a successor to the late Joseph Richardson, for many years chairman of the association. A full attendance not being present at the meeting no definite steps were taken. Officials of the association state there is no need for haste in choosing a chairman.

Among those present at the meeting were A. R. Smith, vice president of the L. & N.; W. A. Winburn, president of the Central of Georgia; F. B. Bowes, vice president of the Illinois Central; E. T. Lamb, president of the A., B. & A.; W. J. Craig, passenger traffic manager of the Atlantic Coast Line; T. E. Steele, vice president of the New Orleans and Northeastern; T. C. Powell, vice president of the Queen and Crescent route; C. A. Wickersham, president of the A. & W. P.; H. F. Smith, vice president of the N., C. & St. L.

ENGINEER AT WORK ON STATE HIGHWAY

E. H. Davis, engineer of the state highway commission, is now at work on the proposed state highway from Menlo, on the Georgia-Alabama line, to Rome, which highway is to form the Georgia end of the Georgia-Alabama highway from Huntsville, Ala., to Rome.

He expects soon to have the data upon this highway complete and ready to send to Washington for final action by the secretary of agriculture, in order that federal funds may be available for its construction.

Data upon other proposed highways will also be sent to Washington at the earliest possible moment. The federal government may send its own engineers over these roads before making its recommendation for federal aid, but it is expected that the progress which is being made will place Georgia in position to receive aid in the very near future. According to Judge T. E. Patterson, chairman of the Georgia highways commission, Georgia is considerably in advance of most of the other states of the union in qualifying for aid from the United States government.

Other counties in the state are rapidly waking up to the advantages of co-operating with the state highways department and through it receiving help in road building.

Judge E. L. Rainey, of the commission, has been invited to attend a meeting at Americus November 24 for the purpose of organizing the counties along the western division of the Dixie highway from Macon to the Florida line at Thomas county, and applying for aid through the state commission.

The counties which will be represented at this meeting are Bibb, Houston, Macon, Sumter, Lee, Dougherty, Mitchell and Thomas.

This will mean that federal aid will be asked from a highway leading from Atlanta, the capital of Georgia, via Macon, Americus, Albany and Thomasville to Tallahassee, the capital of Florida.

COUNT IN CALIFORNIA WILL SHOW NO CHANGE

San Francisco, November 16.—O. K. Cushing, chairman of the democratic committee, declared today that the official count of votes in California for republican and democratic electors would show no material change.

"There is not a chance on earth that Wilson's lead will be affected," he said.

All but twelve counties have finished the official count.

HUGHES GAINS IN MINNESOTA; NOW HAS PLURALITY OF 429.

St. Paul, Minn., November 16.—Mr. Hughes made a net gain of forty-two votes in Minnesota today through a corrected unofficial vote on Houston county and the auditors' sheets from Lesuer, Morrison, Mower and Waseca counties. The totals at noon stood: Wilson 177,784, Hughes 178,213. Hughes' plurality 429.

NO MATERIAL CHANGES IN WEST VIRGINIA VOTE.

Charleston, W. Va., November 16.—No material changes in the unoffical returns are shown so far by incomplete canvasses of the vote of counties in West Virginia. A slight difference of ten or fifteen votes in favor of President Wilson and John J. Cornell, democratic candidate for governor, have been found in Kanawha county. Recounts of votes in many counties will probably be asked for by republicans and democrats, including Senator William E. Chilton, when the offilcal results are known. The offilcial count of most counties will be finished by tonight. Democratic State Chairman C. L. Shaver, in a statement, declares state candidates are not planning any contests.

MANDAMUS ISSUED IN N. C. CONGRESS RACE

Asheville, N. C., November 16.—Superior Court Judge Thomas J. Shaw, sitting this afternoon at Hendersonville, issued a mandamus requiring the Buncombe county board of election canvassers to comply with the law in the matter of certifying the returns on the tenth district congressional vote in that county. The mandamus was issued upon application of Congressman James J. Britt, who claims reelection in this district over Zebulon Weaver, democrat, by a majority of 13 votes, and the writ is returnable for hearing before Superior Judge W. J. Adams in this city on November 20.

GREAT PROGRESS MADE BY ATLANTA EXCHANGE

Value to Atlanta Is Shown at Luncheon Given Thursday at Noon.

Members of the Atlanta Commercial exchange, together with a large number of friends, were the guests of the exchange at the semi-monthly meeting and luncheon held at the exchange offices Thursday at noon.

The meeting was presided over by Clyde L. King, vice president, in the absence of E. P. McBurney, president, who was called from the city on business. It was an enthusiastic meeting of the members and the great strides of the exchange since its organization last February were the cause of many congratulations on the parts of the members and guests.

The luncheon was more of a "get together" meeting than anything else. There was no especial program, but there were plenty of good things to eat and plenty of statistics proving the efficiency of the exchange and its value to Atlanta and the southeast.

Clark Howell and James R. Gray were the especial guests of honor and both made addresses lauding the exchange for its great work and predicting a great future for the organization.

The exchange already gives more information than any one other exchange in the world, covering all the principal markets and all lines of products, stocks and quotations.

The following is a tabulation of the daily markets quoted by the local exchange:

New York Cotton exchange.
New Orleans Cotton exchange.
Liverpool Cotton exchange.
Foreign exchange.
Chicago grain and provision market.
Chicago hog market, including lard, ribs, etc.
New York refined oil market.
Atlanta cotton seed products market, which is the only such market in the world quoted daily.
New York coffee and sugar markets.
Local stock market.

Following the luncheon six new members of the exchange were announced by the officials.

M'CLURE MAY ERECT THEATER IN ATLANTA

New Yorkers May Control House to Be Erected Soon at 15 Houston Street.

A new theater will probably be built in downtown Atlanta if present plans of C. W. McClure materialize. He yesterday purchased the interest of J. F. Askew in the property at 15 Houston street, just off North Pryor, and within a stone's throw of Peachtree.

The property was formerly owned by J. B. Frost and others. Mr. McClure now has control of the holding, and announced last night that he is negotiating with New York theatrical interests who seek a theater in this city. The name of this concern, however, was not disclosed by Mr. McClure—neither was the consideration of the land deal.

He also has an offer from an automobile supply firm who seek to build a two-story structure at No. 15 Houston street.

The deal was handled by the M. C Kiser Realty company.

RISE IN TEMPERATURE PROMISED FOR TODAY

Mercury Ranged From 23.8 Degrees to 38 Degrees on Thursday.

A rapid rise in temperature for Atlanta is the welcome promise of the weather man for today. Yesterday the increase in warmth could be felt during the midday, but late in the afternoon the mercury began to drop a second time.

The high mark was reached with 38 degrees, while the lowest recorded was 23.8 degrees at 6 o'clock in the morning. The wind, which has been annoying the citizens of Atlanta for the past two days, has disappeared and with its departure the weather man promises that temperatures will rise rapidly above the freezing point.

Continued fair weather, with clear skies, is the outlook for the next several days in Atlanta and over the entire state.

Thursday registered the coldest weather of the season for Atlanta, when the mercury dropped to 23.8 degrees at 6 o'clock in the morning. From all sections of the south came reports of continued freezing weather, with high, biting winds.

The tropical storm has passed eastward into the Atlantic ocean and no longer affects the weather in the United States, except in southern Florida, where continued cloudiness is reported. The cold wave has spread over the Atlantic coast districts with killing frosts reported from Wilmington, N. C., and Savannah and light frosts as far south as Tampa.

The lowest weather reported from the coast was 18 degrees at Asheville. Fine, clear weather prevails over most of the cotton belt, the Ohio and central Mississippi valleys and the west.

Policeman Whitley Died Thursday Night After Short Illness

W. F. Whitley, age 60, one of Atlanta's best known policemen, died at his home last night after an illness lasting several weeks.

W. F. Whitley had been sergeant of police several terms during the old days on the police force before the installation of the civil service system. He was sergeant of police in charge of the fair grounds during the exposition of 1895.

For the past three years, due to bad health, he had been stationed at the city hall, where he became a familiar figure, being well known by all the city fathers and employees of the city.

He is survived by his wife, three daughters, Mrs. J. H. Vickers and Misses Aliene and Marie Whitley, and two sons, Gordon and Porter K. Whitley. The body was removed to the chapel of Harry G. Poole.

Mrs. J. K. Orr, Jr., Introduced At Beautiful Afternoon Reception

Mrs. J. K. Orr was hostess yesterday at a beautiful reception in compliment to Mrs. J. K. Orr, Jr., the occasion assembling a large company to meet the pretty bride, who was Miss Caroline Moore, of Columbia, S. C.

The palatial home on Peachtree street was decorated with lavish taste, and the music of a string orchestra was a happy feature. The guests were seated for a delicious repast, and the entertainment was in all respects one of hospitable elegance and elaboration.

The guests, entering through an aisle of palms on tall pedestals, which lined the loggia, were afforded at once a scene of impressive beauty. In the reception hall, one of stately proportion, the stairway at the back, with the circular stained glass window above it, was the main incident in the picture, palms following the circle of the window, and the stairway hung with wild smilax and banked with palms. An effective mural decoration was of smilax, and on the long mantel at one side of the apartment there was massed to the ceiling ferns and variegated foliage with tall vases rising through the green, the vases holding American Beauty roses.

Palms were used in festive profusion, and opened the way into the library, where the receiving party was grouped before a massing of palms across one side of the room, with vases of huge chrysanthemums in rose color and white, a grateful contrast of color in the midst of the foliage. A frieze was of smilax and the bookcases were banked with ferns and rose chrysanthemums.

A beautiful decorative scheme obtained in the spacious sun parlor, which extends the length of the house, and here the first of the tables were set for luncheon.

The Sun Parlor.

The walls were veiled with Florida moss and in each of the windows were hanging baskets filled with ferns and yellow chrysanthemums and showered with the gray moss. From the center of the ceiling was a larger hanging basket of moss and palmettos, made gay with the yellow chrysanthemums, and the mantel was banked with the picturesque combination of the big yellow blooms with background in moss and ferns. In the corners of the apartment were great jardinieres of mammoth yellow chrysanthemums, and others guarded the doorway.

The individual tables had each as its centerpiece on a lace cover a rustic basket of the yellow flowers, the handle tied with yellow tulle.

In the drawing room, which is finished in a deep dark red, smilax again formed a delicate frieze, and on the mantel, banked with ferns, and on the cabinets were frequent vases of red and white roses. The tables there were daintily appointed in red and white, the centerpiece of each a silver vase of Richmond and white roses, alternating with a silver candelabra with red shades, the base wreathed with smilax.

In the dining room pink was the color prevailing in still another decorative scheme. Over the large center table the crystal chandelier, scintillating with reflecting lights, was showered with pink rosebuds and valley lilies. The table centerpiece was a silver basket of pink roses, the silver candlesticks had pink silk shades, and other detail was pink. Smaller tables had similar appointment, their central decoration smaller baskets of the roses.

The mantel was banked to the ceiling with variegated foliage, and on buffet and cabinets was the prevailing massing of green.

The tea room, adjoining, brought into effective use the same pink roses and ferns.

Coffee was served on the long porch, which, inclosed in canvas, and heated, was made into a charming indoor garden, the walls hung with bamboo and with great branches of autumn foliage. The coffee table was set in a lattice arbor at one end, the arbor hung with smilax.

To Make Your Hair Look Naturally Curly

After shaking the hair down and brushing it out, apply a little liquid silmerine with a clean tooth brush and then roll the hair in curlers. This produces as beautiful curls and waves as you could wish for, perfectly natural in appearance, and they will last a long time. The full effect is secured within three hours, though some prefer to keep the hair done up over night.

A few ounces of liquid silmerine—which can of course be had at any drug store—will last for weeks, so it is quite economical to use. It also serves as an excellent dressing, giving the hair a delightful gloss. When the hair is combed out it will be as fluffy as though it had just been shampooed.

How to Keep the Face Young and Attractive

The way to ward off old age is not to fear it, not to allow one's self to be oppressed by the dread of advancing years. Use only legitimate preventives and avoid trying experiments with preparations that have not stood the test of time. An entirely safe and very effective way to keep the complexion young-looking and beautiful is to apply ordinary mercolized wax at bedtime, using it like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. This gradually absorbs the withered, faded cuticle, which is replaced by the more youthful, pink-tinted underskin. One ounce of this wax, to be had at any drug store, is enough to completely rejuvenate a worn-out complexion.

Crow's feet and other wrinkles, the first signs of advancing age, may be removed by a simple, harmless preparation made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. It is used as a face bath.

Atlanta Debutante Clubs Become Local Junior League

Miss Isoline Campbell, president of the Atlanta debutante clubs of 1914, 1915 and 1916, invited to appear on Tuesday afternoon before the board of managers of the National Junior league, was informed that the Atlanta organization had been accepted into the national body, and the three clubs above mentioned will therefore be the nucleus of the Junior league in Atlanta.

The membership in the several cities where there are affiliated leagues is made up of the successive debutante clubs of those cities, and is thus one of most highly representative personnel. The purpose of the league is mainly philanthropic, "girls working for girls less fortunate," but its entertainments are also events of social prestige.

Already the Atlanta branch has in mind the establishment of a domestic training school for girls, and a comfortable nucleus of the fund is in bank, the proceeds of their first entertainment, the "Butterfly Ball."

A FARCICAL LAW!

While we have been criticising, and wondering at the delay of a few days in the announcement of the official election returns from a few western states in which the vote between the two major parties was close, the remarkable situation develops that, under the constitutional laws of Georgia, the official announcement of the result of our own governorship election cannot be made until next June!

In the meantime, the secretary of state has the vote under lock and key in sealed reports from the several counties. He cannot open them. They are addressed to the speaker of the house and the president of the senate, in his care, and he cannot deliver these sealed packages to them until next June. What a farce it is!

Fortunately, this long delay does not make any difference this time because everybody knows the result. So overwhelming was Hugh Dorsey's lead that it is universally conceded he has been elected governor of Georgia by perhaps the largest democratic majority ever polled in the history of the state.

Who knows, however, but that at some time in the future complications may arise whereby this sort of situation would plunge the entire state into a turmoil from which it would take it years to recover?

Our law is such that announcement of the result of the presidential vote is not subject to this unwarranted delay—the governor consolidates and announces this vote; but suppose this faulty principle did apply to presidential electors—and suppose, for instance, it applied to the election laws of California. The nation would not know until nine months, approximately, after the election who had been elected president! Think of what might be the result!

But, coming back to Georgia, and considering the thing as it actually is: Think of what might happen had the race between the gubernatorial nominees been proportionately as close as was that between Mr. Hughes and President Wilson in California. The ultimately successful candidate and the public would be held in ignorance of the official result until the second day after the legislature convenes in June; then he would be declared elected, sworn in, and be expected to deliver his message to the legislature all within a space of a few hours!

Is any further argument required to show that here is something that demands remedy at the hands of the general assembly and the people with the least possible loss of time.

The legislature, after officially announcing Governor Dorsey's election next June, would do well to spare not a moment in enacting legislation to correct this dangerous defect, and it is safe to predict that the people of Georgia would not be slow to ratify it. Governor Dorsey would do well to keep this suggestion in mind in preparing his first annual message to the general assembly.

MEDICINE AND THE MOVIES.

Constantly the motion picture is coming in for added justification. The mechanical principle by which animate objects are made to live and move upon the screen seems one of never-ending development and of limitless possibilities.

So general—and beneficially general—has the use of the living picture projection idea become as a means of imparting knowledge, preserving records of current events, and of serving the purposes of the sciences and the arts that its value purely as an amusement device is fast taking a place of secondary importance in the general scheme of things.

The value of the motion picture to the medical world is being given general recognition. In depicting the wonders and mysteries of the human anatomy; the driving home of truths about physiology and of hygiene; the teaching of sanitation principles, and the delicate, capital art of performing surgical operations, the motion pic- with remarkably satisfactory and almost startling results.

These facts were forcefully illustrated by Dr. E. G. Ballenger in a lecture before the convention of the Southern Medical association. He showed the invaluable possibilities of the motion picture principle in the class room, in the study of diseases of the human body; how the various organs of the body may be exhibited upon the screen actually in operation, in the very performance of their functions. Likewise, therefore, the effects of disease upon these organs can be shown, and brought home to the interested observer far more forcefully than possibly could be done by word of mouth, post-mortem clinic or by the printed page. The lessons taught the student by means of the motion picture are indelibly stamped upon his mind, and as a teacher alone the "movie's" use can be rendered invaluable, as Dr. Ballenger pointed out to his audience of physicians and laymen in Atlanta.

And in medical science lies only one of the many kindred fields in which the motion picture shines; all of which combined are rapidly bringing it into the forefront of the great educational institutions of this day of mechanical and scientific wonders.

A WORTHY EXAMPLE.

The Early County fair has accomplished big things for the entire section of the state, but perhaps the very biggest thing it has done was to show the negroes what great opportunities are theirs right here, at their very doors.

This from a news article appearing elsewhere in The Constitution.

It is a story of progress, as shown in the industrial prosperity of the worthy, law-abiding negroes of that section; it is a story of self-help and the co-operation of the white citizens of Early county in the movement for the uplift of the negro population.

The county fair is thrown open to them; what they have done, and are doing, educationally and industrially, is given hearty home recognition and more than state-wide advertisement; this, as their due, and for their encouragement in every effort to attain a higher plane of citizenship. There is where their white friends stand by them and lend the helping hand.

These negroes, with their own schools, on the most practical lines; with their local farmers' conferences; their women's organization to study cooking and canning problems, realize that they must live out their lives in that section; that their homes and best interests are there, and that their prosperity goes hand in hand with good citizenship. They know that these are inseparable.

So they work for the uplift of the community, and in that work they are receiving the cordial co-operation of their white neighbors.

This is not only highly creditable to all concerned, within the borders of a county, but it is a far-reaching lesson—a text which preaches its own sermon as to the settlement of the "negro problem" in the south.

In short, it does away with problems; for there can be none where such a mutually helpful state of affairs exists.

"The white people of the county are almost as proud of the negroes' exhibit as are the negroes themselves."

The sentiment of these Early county negroes is: "We do not have to go away from home, and ask for entrance at alien industrial gates: The land of Promise and of Plenty is here 'at home,' among the people who know and understand us best, and here we are content to toil, doing what we can for our own advancement and that of the community whose industrial interests are identical with ours. We do not need to go away from home!"

They try to help themselves, and their hands are upheld; their interests protected; they read aright the signs on the road to better citizenship; the fact that they respect themselves commands respect. They are prosperous and happy!

AGAIN, WE CAN DO BOTH!

Recently The Constitution printed a provisional objection by Ernest L. Rhodes to the proposed city appropriation for a new permanent building next year on the Southeastern fair grounds at Lakewood. Mr. Rhodes based his opposition on the grounds that the city should first make ample provision for our schools, and he justly holds that unless there shall be means provided whereby both can be done, the fair enterprise should wait.

Upon this page we print today a similar communication from J. O. Cochran, general manager of Atlanta's parks, who takes the same stand with reference to the great cyclorama of the battle of Atlanta that Mr. Rhodes takes with reference to the public schools. Mr. Cochran argues that, of the two propositions, it is vastly more important that the city make provision for the preservation of this remarkable and historically invaluable work of art than to erect a building at Lakewood. "It would be manifestly unfair and unbusinesslike," he declares, "to erect another fair building unless the cyclorama is better provided for."

The city can and should do both! It can and should take care of the needs of the park department—in properly safeguarding and preserving the cyclorama, and at the same time it should provide further aid for the upbuilding of the fair. If it cannot do both, as The Constitution said in discussing Mr. Rhodes' plea for the schools, then it will be because something is woefully wrong with our system of finances.

The cyclorama, Mr. Cochran says, is worth in cold cash vastly more than the $37,500 it originally cost. In fact, he says, it has netted the city not a penny under $50,000, and from solely a financial standpoint it is worth not less than $100,000. From an historical and educational standpoint its value cannot be computed.

Yet, in the face of these facts, this priceless painting has been and is housed in a ramshackle firetrap of a building, every particle of which is inflammable as tinder. It has only been by the grace of God and kind fortune that it has not long ago now gone up in smoke, the victim of a carelessly discarded match or cigarette stub.

The city should by all means erect a fireproof building in which this great historic masterpiece may be preserved and safeguarded for the current generation and posterity.

Under proper management, with financial care and wisdom and system applied to our municipal affairs, such as we have every reason to believe will be applied after January 1, there is no valid reason why, with all of our civic wealth and prosperity and resources, we cannot do amply by our schools, and by the cyclorama and also by the institution which, second to the waterworks, is the city's greatest asset, the Southeastern fair.

The Lovelier Light.

I.

Old Trouble now is on the the run, and Joy his task fulfills;
It seems just like the Christmas Sun's a-comin' up the hills!
The light seems brighter far and near—in cabin and in hall,
And every thrilling song you hear chimes "Happiness to all!"

II.

This is the music of the days—the echo of the years,
When Laughter's light shall take the place of Sorrow's rain of tears;
Thanksgiving song may ring along till all the country thrills,
But sing for us the Christmas Sun, a-comin' up the hills!

III.

The lovelier light on land and tide, we're wearying to win;
We'll throw the great life-windows wide and let the light stream in!
Surely old Trouble's day is done, and Joy his task fulfills
By heralding the Christmas Sun that's comin' up the hills!

Passing of Bruno's Garret.

Guido Bruno, editor of Bruno's Weekly, has had to move from his famous "Garret," in Washington Square, New York, where for the past two years he has edited his magazine. In the current issue of his weekly he writes pathetically of it:

"Today I am sitting in the empty room. My own belongings are in my new quarters and I am saying good-bye. Good-bye to the big broad bed that I loved because of the hours of worry and trouble that threw me upon it. Good-bye to the table where I used to sit and to write; good-bye to the easy chair in which I used to sit and to indulge in my most beloved thoughts. The mirror I view with sadness. Each mirror is dear to me because it saw me often as no other mirror will ever see me again. If I were rich I would smash it to pieces. I would melt the splinters and out of the many in the course of time broken and melted mirrors I would have my coffin made."

"I'm Somebody After All."

(In reply to the poem: "When it Nears the Christmas Season.")

"It's then they've all decided that Santa Claus is Me,"
But like Uncle Remus' rabbit, I'm "bleged to clim' a tree,"
For the high cost of livin' keeps father at the bat,
And it don't make much difference who brushes off his hat.

The signs, 'tis true, are certain that Christmas comes once more,
But observation tells me—for the rich and not the poor;
If you have no safe to open—no dollars to let go,
How you goin' to purchase the tickets for the show?

No "camphor-rubs of Molly" will fill your empty purse,
Nor mustard plasters draw the coin—in all this universe!
But if we only could convince our other fellow men
That just a little kindness to each other now and then,
Would get us all to feeling optimistic as you sing
We would not fear the pain of pessimism's sting.

"But when it's nearin' Christmas, thank the Lord it's so,"
Old optimism gets us and we let the money go!
We'll never know the difference a hundred years from now
And with my pipe and slippers placed, to Santa Claus I bow.

Terrible to Contemplate.

"The war in Europe," says The Kansas City Star, "is stripping the belligerent countries of all their younger artists, musicians and literary lights, and brings the horrors of war right up to our own doors. In this connection the sweet singer of The Whitsett (Ga.) Courier said recently:

Safeguard Cyclorama Before Giving to Fair, Says City Park Manager

J. O. Cochran, general manager of parks for the city of Atlanta, has written The Constitution protesting against the suggested city appropriation of $100,000 for a Southeastern fair building at Lakewood next year, unless this can be done without prolonging the delay in the construction of a $75,000 fireproof building at Grant park in which to house and protect the great cyclorama of the battle of Atlanta.

He argues that this wonderful painting is worth not a cent less than $100,000 to the city in dollars and cents alone, and that it has been only due to "luck" that the building in which it is housed at present has not been destroyed by fire long before now.

His communication follows:

Editor Constitution: I do not wish to be put in the attitude of opposing any reasonable appropriation by the city government to the Southeastern Fair association for the development of Lakewood next year. All true citizens are in hearty accordance with the Southeastern Fair association and the great work which they are undertaking. This association, together with Fulton county and the city of Atlanta, have undertaken and are doing a great work which will mean much to the city and to the development of Lakewood, which is the property of the city of Atlanta. But the recent suggestion that the city appropriate $100,000 next year out of its current revenue for the purpose of erecting another fair building in Lakewood is, under the circumstances, preposterous.

As long as the Cyclorama of the Battle of Atlanta is allowed to remain in the ramshackle fire trap which has housed it for the last fifteen years it would be manifestly unfair and unbusinesslike to erect another fair building costing that much money, unless the cyclorama is better provided for.

For the benefit of those citizens who are not familiar with this wonderful painting I wish to give a brief history. It was painted by three Germans, Lohr, Lorenz and Heiney, of Leipsig, Germany. These artists came to Atlanta a few years after the war, accompanied by generals who fought in the battle of Atlanta, and the scenes in the picture were obtained from first-hand information and from descriptions given the artists by officers of both the confederate and federal armies. The original cost of this painting was $37,500. It was purchased by Mr. G. V. Gress, now of New York city, then a citizen of Atlanta, and presented to the people of Atlanta by Mr. Gress, and has stood in Grant park for eighteen years. Since it has been in the park it has netted the city of Atlanta not less than $50,000. Mr. W. J. Sanborn, of Cleveland, Ohio, writing to The Constitution a few weeks ago, stated that this is the only war cyclorama left, as all of the others have been destroyed, because as private enterprises, where they did not make money for their owners, they were allowed to decay.

The south has no greater treasure than this cyclorama from the standpoint of historic, sentimental, educational and financial value. A constant stream of visitors pour into this building every day. More than 6,000 school children visited the cyclorama the first six months of 1916 free of charge. From a financial standpoint this painting alone is worth not less than $100,000.

We have been lucky that the building which houses this painting has not been destroyed by fire. The old shingles and the wood work are so dry that if it were to catch on fire it could not be saved.

When Captain R. M. Clayton was chief of construction he had a beautiful design drawn and an estimate made of the approximate cost of a fireproof building for this picture. His estimate was about $50,000, but as material has gone up in price since then, it will cost about $75,000 to put up a fireproof building with museum attached.

We have called the city council's attention to the bad condition of this building every year for the last ten years. In 1912 $15,000 was appropriated to start a new building, but the money was withdrawn before plans and specifications for a new building could be drawn. Since then no effort has been made to take care of this picture. Therefore, it seems that instead of agitating for a new building in Lakewood, costing $100,000, which would only be used two weeks in the year, that it would be better to appropriate $75,000 for a new cyclorama, which is used every day of the year and which would undoubtedly increase the net proceeds of this picture fifty per cent.

HARPER COMMISSIONED AS SECOND LIEUTENANT OF COAST ARTILLERY

The following news bulletin was issued from the governor's office Thursday by Private Secretary Fritz Jones for Governor Nat E. Harris;

"The governor on yesterday commissioned Charles Hamilton Harper, a second lieutenant of the coast artillery, to succeed Second Lieutenant J. F. Ross, who has been transferred to the unassigned list.

"The constitution requires the publication of the constitutional amendments in one or more newspapers of each congressional district. Some of the amendments require the publication in two or more papers. It has been the custom heretofore to publish these amendments in at least two newspapers in each district. There were five amendments and twelve congressional districts, which made 120 newspapers, allowing two to the district. One or two of the amendments were given a little wider circulation on account of the fact that it was believed that they ought to have a more general consideration. This accounts for the six additional publications."

The governor is in receipt of a communication from the American Civic association of Washington, D. C., asking for the appointment of five delegates to attend the twelfth annual convention of this association in Washington, D. C., on December 12, 13 and 14. It is said the program this year will relate to the question of national and state parks, with other cognate subjects, such as city planning and country planning, and the abatement of nuisances, etc. The governor will appoint these delegates at an early date.

The official program for the presentation ceremonies concerning the portrait of Nancy Hart to be accepted by the general assembly was given to the governor today by the regent of the Piedmont chapter of that order. The presentation will occur in the capitol on the 25th instant at 10:30 and the full program will be published by the daughters at an early date.

WOMAN APPOINTED AS DEPUTY COLLECTOR IN REVENUE OFFICE

Mrs. Ivy T. Buehl, 61 Kennesaw avenue, who for the last month has been employed in the newly-created publicity department of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, was yesterday appointed a deputy collector in the office of United States Internal Revenue Agent E. C. Yellowley. Her duties will be largely stenographic.

She will be the first woman to hold this position during the last three years, and the second in the history of the office in Atlanta.

Mrs. Buehl's appointment comes as one of a number of changes just made in the federal revenue department in Atlanta, affecting both the agent's and the collector of internal revenue's offices. She will succeed J. C. Blalock, who has been transferred to the force of Revenue Collector A. O. Blalock to fill a vacancy caused by the transferring of Deputy Collector W. C. Perkins to detailed duty under Revenue Agent Yellowley. Mr. Perkins' activities henceforth will be in the field.

J. C. Tidwell, Gay, Ga., has been appointed a special employee in the agent's office. Until recently he was employed by Congressman Adamson in Washington, D. C.

LOCAL ASSOCIATION TO BANQUET CHICAGO BUILDING OFFICIAL

The Atlanta Association of Building Owners and Managers will hold a banquet Monday night at the Capital City club in honor of Thomas Bainbridge, secretary of the Chicago Owners and Managers' association. Mr. Bainbridge will deliver an address of timely interest to the members of the local association.

LITTLE LOCALS ABOUT THINGS OF CITY INTEREST

Representative William H. Burwell, of Hancock county, speaker of the house of representatives, was a visitor in Atlanta yesterday. Mr. Burwell was elected to succeed himself from his own county almost by acclamation, and is a candidate to succeed himself as speaker of the next house. His friends feel assured that with the efficiency he has shown as presiding officer of the present house and with the large number of friends he will have in the new house, he will have small difficulty in being re-elected.

Out of the forty-four members of the next Georgia senate, thirty-three are lawyers, according to a roster of the new senate which has been prepared by D. P. McClatchey, secretary of the senate. This roster is based upon the returns from the election just held. Doctors, bankers, farmers and other professions seem to have about an equal share in the remainder of the membership of the senate.

"It's just like Sherman said," commented an old-time Nimrod yesterday. "Those fellows over yonder in Europe are shootin' all the powder and shot in the world, and us poor hunters back here in Georgia have got to pay twice as much for shells as we used to." That's the fact in the case, too. Shells have advanced 100 per cent in price since last year. This, added to the price of a hunting license, makes hunting a more or less expensive proposition, and the hunting season opens November 20, too, just when a fellow's got to lay in a supply of this new high-priced coal.

On November 19, at 8:30 p. m., an amateur minstrel show will begin at the Jewish Progressive club, 270 South Pryor street. The club has gone to great expense in building a larger stage and decorating the club auditorium. There will be accommodations for 800 people, and judging by the way tickets are selling the prospects are that the hall will be filled to capacity. Among the cast are some of the club's best amateur performers. The two endmen for the minstrel show are Ben Batch and Lew Kaufman. The Swanee quartet, which is famous for its good harmony, will also be on hand. Between the action of the minstrel show there will be an all-star vaudeville bill, headed by Herman "Legs" Cohen and H. and M. Feldman. The public is cordially invited. Tickets can be obtained at the clubhouse or from any one of the members.

Governor Harris has issued a requisition upon the governor of Alabama for Oscar Hale, wanted in Heard county on a charge of larceny from the house, and another requisition upon the governor of Florida for George Chester, wanted in Decatur county on a charge of abandoning minor children.

Dr. C. O. Jones, pastor of Trinity Metho-dist church, will address the students of Oglethorpe university at their vesper services on next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Custis N. Anderson will have charge of the music.

The museum of Oglethorpe university has been favored with a gift of unusual interest in the form of a diploma given by the University of Georgia to Jeptha V. Harris, who was a member of their first class in 1804. This diploma is supposed to be the only one in existence of that year and comes to the university through Mrs. Sallie Harris Jones, granddaughter of Mr. Marris. Mr. Harris was also the great grandfather of William States Jacobs, Jr., who is a member of the first class at Oglethorpe university, and is now prosecuting his studies happily in that institution. The diploma is signed by Josias C. Meigs, president, and will make a most interesting addition to the museum of Oglethorpe.

Sheriff C. Wheeler Mangum, who was taken painfully ill with ptomaine poisoning while teaching his Sunday school class last Sunday, is much improved. He is expected to be out again before the week is over.

J. C. Logan, secretary of the Associated Charities, returned Thursday from the annual convention of the South Carolina Conference on Charities. Mr. Logan delivered an address before the convention on "Charities and Correction." The meeting was well attended and during the last few years the conference has shown a marvelous increase in membership.

Judge John T. Pendleton, sitting in supe-rior court yesterday, ruled that Garland Robinson, a striking carman, would not have to pay alimony during the time he was on strike. Robinson was haled before the judge on a charge of contempt for not having paid the regular $15 monthly alimony dues. This charge was dismissed.

Judge W. D. Ellis is a fresh-air advocate, but he doesn't believe in a draught. Thursday morning he announced in superior court that the next window cleaner who undertook his morning's duties while cold weather continues would be sent to jail if he worked around his court room. Drew Liddell, deputy sheriff, delivered the jduge's orders, with the result that window-cleaning activities were quickly shifted elsewhere.

While searching a negro at police station early Thursday afternoon, officers almost believed they had arrested a banker, traveling incognito. M. C. Lucas, the negro, was arrested under a charge of disorderly conduct, and during the usual search given prisoners, the officers found $206 in his pockets. It appears that the negro has been saving up for many months.

The Fifth Ward Improvement club voted at the meeting last night to hold an entertainment on November 24, Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, in the auditorium of the English Avenue school, for the benefit of the street car strikers. Details have been left in the hands of a committee from the club as follows: A. C. Burton, J. G. Flournoy, J. E. Bowden, R. M. Leiman, L. L. Hildebrand, G. K. Denny, Gus Logan, Ed Walton, J. B. Barker and the president and secretary of the club, Foster Hunter and R. H. Cowan.

The Colored Congregational Convention of Georgia continued its second day's session at the First Congregational church, colored yesterday. The following made addresses on the three hundredth anniversary program of "Congregationalism:" Rev. C. W. Burton of Macon, Rev. W. L. Cash of Savannah and Rev. J. H. Pickens of Marietta. Following each address there was open and general discussion, which at times became quite animated. At the evening session, Rev. E. Lyman Hood, president of the Atlanta Theological seminary, spoke on the call of Africa for mission workers from the negroes of the United States. He was followed by Dr. J. W. Bixler, of New London, Conn., who bore a message of sympathy from New England to the New South. One of the features of the evening was the singing by Professor W. M. Lewis, the well-known colored singer.

The defense of the Adamson eight-hour law, which is being attacked by the railroads, will be conducted by E. Marvin Underwood, assistant attorney general, who formerly lived in Atlanta. He will be assisted by Frank Hagerman, a Kansas City attorney.

George C. Schanfele, grand chancellor commander for the grand domain of Georgia, and William H. Leopold, grand keeper of records and seal, will visit Georgia lodge, 153 Knights of Pythias, tonight at their regular meeting. The degree of esquire will be conferred.

ACCOUNTANTS HOLD BANQUET AT PIEDMONT

A dinner was given last night at the Hotel Piedmont to the Georgia State Board of Accountants' Examiners. Many prominent business and professional men of Atlanta were present.

Addresses were made by Phil C. McDuffie, president of the Ad Men's club; Secretary Walter Cooper, of the chamber of Commerce; J. R. Bachman, Colonel R. W. Jemison, of Macon; Professor Kell, of the Tech School of Commerce; D. E. Shumaker, Dr. W. R. Hendricks and Chairman Joel T. Hunter, of the state board, who acted as toastmaster.

Mr. McDuffie, who was the principal speaker of the evening, reviewed the history of accountancy and paid a fitting tribute to the members of the profession present.

The state board consists of Joel Hunter, chairman; Harold Hirsch, of Atlanta, and Colonel R. W. Jemison, of Macon.

$150,000 LOAN MADE ON HERD OF CATTLE

Atlanta Trust Company Has Now Established Cattle Loan Department.

Recognizing the fact that the cattle industry in the south has passed from the stage of propaganda to that of a real economic factor, the Atlanta Trust company has established a cattle loan department, and announces a loan of $150,000, with a Florida herd of cattle as security.

So far as is known this loan represents a record figure for loans on cattle in Dixie.

The loan was made to Parker Bros., of Arcadia, Fla., upon a herd of 35,000 cattle.

"Such a loan as this a few years ago," said Fred Everitt, representative of the Atlanta Trust company, announcing the loan, "would have been impossible. Few, if any, banks would have considered making such a loan. We believe now, though, that conditions have changed so that banks in the south will hardly find better security than properly safeguarded cattle. This new condition is the result of the eradication of the cattle tick, the establishment of packing plants furnishing a ready market, the importation of pure-bred stock, and scientific business methods of raising cattle. The farmer is coming to this point of view, and the sooner all of them do the better will be conditions of business in the south."

The growing use of cattle as security for loans in the south is further illustrated by the amount of such paper being discounted by the Atlanta federal reserve bank. While the demand for money upon the reserve bank now is not as great as it has been, due to the prosperous condition of the south, says Governor McCord, the percentage of paper secured by live stock has increased very materially since the bank first began to discount paper.

WILSON VISITS ATLANTA

Chief Clerk of the U. S. Senate Meets Governor Harris.

P. M. Wilson, chief clerk of the United States senate, who is now visiting relatives in Atlanta, dropped in at the state capitol yesterday and paid his respects to Mrs. Marsh, stenographer and real "boss" of the Georgia senate.

Mr. Wilson is much elated over the result of the presidential election, "although," he said, "it's nothing more than all of us expected."

Colonel John T. Boifeuillet, clerk of the Georgia house, showed Mr. Wilson over the capitol building, including the house and senate chambers, and introduced him to Governor Harris.

Mr. Wilson is a North Carolinian by birth. He was promoted from a position in the office of the secretary of finance of congress to the chief clerkship of the senate. This is the first visit of Mr. Wilson to Atlanta since 1881.

MANY PAPERS VETOED BY MAYOR WOODWARD

Mayor Woodward yesterday exercised his right of veto on a number of papers sent to him from the last meeting of council. He gave as his reason the lack of funds in the city treasury.

Papers vetoed by him were: Resolution for the erection of fire escapes on the Girls' High school and the Williams Street school at a cost of about $1,500.

Ordinance requiring the repair of Edgewood avenue bridge, which would cost the city about $10,000, the Southern railway and the Georgia Railway and Power company having agreed to pay their proportionate share of the expense.

A resolution giving the Atlanta Theological seminary a refund for money expended on their street assessment on Arthur street.

Resolution requesting the county commissioners to furnish the labor and part of the material for construction of a sewer and pumping station for the Battle Hill sanitarium.

Resolution providing for a domestic science class at the Tenth Street school.

FUNERAL OF HAWKES WILL BE HELD TODAY

The funeral of A. K. Hawkes, noted philanthropist, who died in his apartment at the Piedmont hotel Wednesday night, will be held at 3 o'clock today from the First Methodist church, interment at West View cemetery.

Mr. Hawkes never married. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. S. O. Cundy, and her children, Albert Cundy, who was recently placed at the head of the A. K. Hawkes Optical company, and Miss Helen Cundy, all of Atlanta, and J. F. Cundy, of Seattle, Wash.

DARING GENIUS OF LEON BAKST TO STARTLE ATLANTA

SCHEHEROZADE,
With Ballet Russe.

The daring genius of Leon Bakst will be manifested both in the costumes and stage decoration of the Serge De Diaghileff Ballet Russe, which brings Nijinsky to Atlanta direct from the Metropolitan Opera house in New York, for a performance on the night of November 29, under Music Festival association auspices. The costumes are startling both in form and color.

"I have noticed," says Mr. Bakst in discussing his art, "that in each color of the prism there exists a gradation which sometimes expresses frankness and chastity, sometimes sensuality and bestiality, sometimes pride and sometimes despair. Any of these may be given over to the public by the effect one makes of the various shadings. That is what I tried to do in 'Scheherazade.' Against a lugubrious green, I put a full blue of despair, paradoxical as it may seem. There are reds which are triumphal, reds which assassinate. There is a blue which can be the color of a St. Madeline; and there is the blue of a Messaline.

"It is in line as well as in color that I make my emotions. In 'Thamar' and in 'Marcisse' I sought to bring out in the costumes the plastic ideas which correspond to ideas in literature. It is in the lines of the costume itself, as well as in the decoration and ornaments I put in, that I carry the unity of line.

"Sometimes I bring out the purely mystic in stage setting, as in d'Annunzio's 'St. Sebastien,' which I produced two years ago. Because the subject matter essentially was Christian, I used the cross in a thousand variations, for the basis of my linear ornamentation, not only hidden in the costumes and accessories and ornaments in the beautiful play by d'Annunzio, but in the lines of the landscape motif, and vary it indefinitely so as to create a harmony of color and line."

SOUTHERN RAILWAY CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The Southern Railway club held its annual meeting at the Piedmont hotel Thursday. The membership comprises something over one hundred officials in the mechanical departments of practically every railroad of the southeastern section of the country.

The feature of the morning session was an address delivered before the meeting by John Hyland, of the Pyrene company, on "Fire Protection and Fire Prevention." It is the intention of the various roads of the south to impress upon their employees the necessity of precaution to eliminate all unnecessary fires possible.

R. E. Smith, of Wilmington, general superintendent of motive power of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, was elected president of the club, while the following officers were re-elected: A. M. Moore, superintendent of motive power of the Georgia Railway and Power company, Atlanta, first vice president; W. S. Murrian, superintendent of motive power of the Southern railway at Knoxville, Tenn., second vice president; W. F. Kaderly, superintendent of the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad, Macon, third vice president, and A. J. Merrill, Atlanta, secretary.

NEGRO SCHOOLS MAKE EXCELLENT EXHIBITS

Early County Fair Gives Negroes First Prize in One Branch—Aid Farmers.

Blakely, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—One of the most attractive exhibits at the Early county fair, just closed, was that of two Early county colored schools—the Spring Creek school and the Pleasant Hill school. The thousands who visited the fair from all over the state and from Florida and Alabama were genuinely surprised and pleased at the splendid showing made by the negroes of the county. One end of the main exhibition building was given over to the two schools and their entire section was filled from floor to ceiling.

The Pleasant Hill school was organized several years ago on a community plan. There are two organizations—one for the negro men and one for the negro women—which are carried on in conjunction with the school, and to a visitor at the fair the good effects of this triple co-operation are easily apparent. The local farmers' conference has nearly twenty-five members, and meetings are held every two weeks at the school house. The women's organization has some thirty members and meets to study cooking and canning problems. Teachers from Tuskegee are helping direct the efforts of the school and associate organizations.

Has Five-Acre Tract.

The school has a five-acre plot of ground and every square foot of it is tended by the pupils. They have raised this year the following bumper crop from their tract: Seed cotton, 2,600 pounds; corn, 50 bushels; hay, 2,704 pounds; oats, 2,000 pounds; velvet beans, 100 pounds; Irish potatoes, 250 pounds; sweet potatoes, 3 bushels; onions, one-fourth acre, besides other crops and vegetables.

On a quarter acre three crops were made, Irish potatoes being planted early, followed by a crop of sweet potatoes and onions as the last crop of the year. The school's peavine hay was awarded the fair association's blue ribbon, and a second prize given the school's cotton.

The one prevailing idea of the school's exhibit was its "practicalness." The teachers claim that there is nothing grown or raised at the school for the mere fun of it; that everything must have an every-day, practical value. Clothes of all kinds are made, from baby socks to a grown man's home-made suit of "Sunday best"—all the work of negro girls. The boys' exhibit included woodwork.

White Populace Pleased.

The white people of the county are almost as proud of the negroes' exhibit as are the negroes themselves, for it shows that the colored population of Early has determined to take more interest in their work and make better farmers than they have ever been. It is this sort of thing that gives the negro confidence in the white people and the white people confidence in the negro.

The Early county fair has accomplished big things for the entire section of the state, but perhaps the biggest thing it has done was to show the negroes what great opportunities are theirs here at their very doors. For the Early county negro farmer, with his barn full of peavine hay and corn, and his house with hog, hominy and 'taters, New Jersey and the northern munition plants have no attractions.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and many thin men and women we believe can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it aims to prepare the fattening strength-giving material of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe, fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepare it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. Much of this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol works to stop the waste and do it quickly and to make the fat-producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Jacobs' Pharmacy and other leading druggists in this vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in each large box.

FEDERAL PRISON POET NOW FREE MAN AGAIN

Logan P. Martin, the federal prison poet, saw the stars for the first time in seven years and ten months last night. His term had just ended and he was released Thursday.

He was 35 years old upon entering prison, and his hair was black. It is now snowy white, almost, and he weighs 30 pounds less than the day when he entered prison for forging a money order.

He has written 500 poems during imprisonment, his first poem having been written behind the bars. Many of his verses have been widely published.

MILITIAMEN TO FACE TRIAL FOR ASSAULT

Macon, Ga., November 16.—(Special.) The Bibb county grand jury has returned true bills charging assault with intent to murder against Houston P. Williams and Louis F. Cannon, members of the Chatham artillery, national guard, who are alleged to have cut the throat of a taxi driver and carried his machine to Savannah.

Cannon, who is with the Georgia troops on the border, will be brought back here to face trial. Williams is now in jail here.

The cutting occurred near Camp Harris some weeks ago.

VICTIM SUCCUMBS TO BLOW FROM SHOVEL

Athens, Ga., November 16.—(Special.) A coroner's jury this morning decided that murder was probably committed on the highway near Whitehall late yesterday, when a fifteen-year burglary convict from Camden county, in an altercation, hit Otis Daniel, an eight-month larceny convict, over the head with a shovel, the latter's death occurring several hours after the difficulty.

The prison commission was notified, and this morning ordered the slayer held by the sheriff here for trial.

YOUR STREET CAR FARE ELECTRIC LIGHT COAL BILL

The lack of coal is pinching more than one home today.

A ton of coal costs seven dollars and a half.

The Georgia Railway and Power Company, every three months and a half, takes the price of one ton of coal from the home that has a child who uses the car to go to and from school.

ATLANTA has 26,000 school children. If less than half of them—11,000—use the cars twice a day for one-half the year, they pay the Georgia Railway and Power Company $200,200.00.

A dividend of 8% on $2,500,000.00 of watered stock would require $200,000.00. The Georgia Railway and Power Company has guaranteed a dividend of 8% to the holders of the common stock of the Georgia Railway and Electric Company under the lease for 999 years, by which it hopes to control the streets of Atlanta forever.

This $200,000.00 is only a small fraction of the more than $5,000,000.00 drawn from the pockets of Atlanta in 1915, but it would buy many tons of coal today.

Read in today's issue of The Way what the Mayors of Dallas and Louisville and the public officials of Memphis and Cincinnati say of prices paid for car fares by the children of those cities.

And do not miss, in the same number, "The Man With the Whip," suggested by the picture copyrighted by the Georgia Railway and Power Company.

Stage Is Now Set for Saturday's Games

Edited by DICK JEMISON

On Special Train Vandy Invades Birmingham Grid; Both Elevens Are in Shape

Nashville, Tenn., November 16.—(Special.)—A special train will carry several hundreds of Vanderbilt students and alumni to Birmingham Friday, where they will root for their team against Auburn on Saturday. Last Saturday's deefat at the hands of Tennessee has served to increase the interest which was already felt in this game. Before that it was figured that the Commodores would have easy sailing and that the game would hardly be such a spectacle as was offered when Virginia played here last month. Now the match is considered a perfectly even proposition, if indeed the odds do not rather favor Auburn.

The whole question is: Does last Saturday's game indicate a real weakness in the Vanderbilt team, or can it be accounted for on the ground that Vanderbilt was not playing the game of which she is capable? Most of the local experts think the answer is rather in the direction indicated in the latter question.

In spite of the appearances being against them, it is held that the Commodores are really very strong, and that Saturday will once more see them at the top of their form. Power was shown too plainly against Kentucky State and Virginia to leave any doubt of a fact that at that time conceded generally, that the 1916 team is one of the finest machines that has represented Vanderbilt for a number of years.

If determination will do anything, the Commodores are well fortified. They are eager to get another chance to show what they are really capable of and they have been putting themselves this week through a more rigorous course of practice than the oldest players on the present team can remember ever to have taken place. Till 7 o'clock every evening they have been at work, forming and running by the aid of searchlights installed in Furman hall and trained on Dudley field. The cold weather has made work more agreeable than it has been during the whole of an unseasonably sultry fall.

Back in the line-up is Carman, the injured guard, though the case of Floyd, the best halfback McGugin has got, is still doubtful. If he can enter the game, Vanderbilt will take the field Saturday in her full strength.

ONLY THREE AILING IN PLAINSMEN'S CAMP.

Auburn, Ala., November 16.—(Special.) With the exception of three players, Auburn is rounding into fine shape for its critical contest with Vandy. Wynne is still out of it with a bad ankle. Campbell had his hand cut in the Florida game and it threatens to give him serious trouble. Pete Bonner had one of his finger nails torn off in practice so he is resting for the present.

Auburn fully realizes what it means to go against the best team the Commodores have ever had maddened and infuriated because of their unexpected defeat by Tennessee—a defeat that they fully deserved because of their listless and over-confident playing.

What energy the Commodores failed to put into the Tennessee game they will put with interest into the Auburn game. It will take some defense on the part of Auburn to hold off their speedy and furious attacks. It is just a question of whether Auburn has speed enough to head off Vanderbilt's attacks and still have power enough to put the ball across.

SOUTHERN WILL FIX OWN SALARY LIMIT

National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues Will Hold Next Meeting in Louisville.

New Orleans, La., November 16.—Louisville, Ky., was selected as the next convention city in November, 1917, of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, at the session here late today of its annual meeting. There was no election of officers this year.

Much important business was disposed of during the session, including the controversy regarding a proposition for minor leagues' representation in the national baseball commission. After extended discussion, which developed much opposition to the minors' participating in the commission's affairs, the resolutions committee reported a plan which was adopted by the convention and which provided for the creation of a board of five members to be entirely separate from and independent of the national commission and the minor leagues' national board of arbitration.

The new board, under the plan, would decide all matters on appeal from the minor leagues' organization and all matters in controversy between the major and minor leagues. The membership of the new board would consist of the president and secretary of the minors' association, one member each from the National and American leagues, and a fifth member "who shall in no way be connected with baseball," to be elected by the four other members. The fifth, or "neutral," member would act as chairman of the board.

This plan was adopted after brief discussion and the chairman, upon authority from the convention, appointed a committee, consisting of Clyde Shropshire, Nashville; J. Cal Ewing, Oakland, Cal., and E. G. Barrow, New York, to take up the matter with the National and American leagues at their annual meeting in December.

On application by the Southern association and others the convention adopted a special dispensation to allow every minor league to fix its own salary and player limit, provided such individual action did not conflict with the national agreement in force between major and minor leagues.

The convention voted down a proposition to limit class B clubs and lower classes to thirteen players, six of whom must never have played on clubs of higher classification.

President Allen, of the Little Rock (Southern association) club, today announced the purchase of D. Walsh, infielder, from the Milwaukee (American association) team, and Manager Del Howard, of the Oakland (Pacific Coast league) team, announced he had bought Outfielder Lee from the St. Louis Americans.

CHICK SPRINGS PLAYS G. M. C. ON SATURDAY

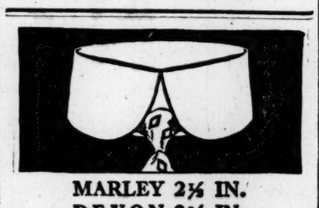

Preps Battle at Athens as Preliminary to the Georgia-Tech Game.

Milledgeville, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—The Georgia Military college football team will play Chick Springs Military academy in Athens Saturday morning. This perhaps is the most important battle on the gridiron between the leading prep teams of the south, both of which carry almost as good teams, if not better, than some in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association.

Coach Maddox has been putting his cadets through a steady preparation for this, his hardest, game of the season. The Milledgeville aggregation has been successful in practically all the games played this year. On last Saturday they defeated Chatham academy, in Savannah, by 37 to 0. G. M. C.'s schedule this year did not include a game with either Riverside or with Gordon. Heretofore these teams and G. M. C. have been the chief contestants in higher prep circles.

Citadel 3, Clemson 0.

Orangeburg, S. C., November 16.—Citadel defeated Clemson 3 to 0 here today in their annual football game. Weeks kicking a field goal from the 13-yard line in the third period. The teams were evenly matched, but only in the last period did Clemson threaten to score. Weeks' runs from kick formation and his forward passing were the features.

All Roads Lead to Athens For Georgia-Tech Battle; Society Vies With Elevens

By Dick Jemison.

The trek begins today. All roads lead to Athens, Ga., the Classic City of the Empire State of the South.

A few of the early birds determined to be on the ground for the pre-game fun arrived in the Classic City last night, but the real rush for Athens will start with today's sun, continue throughout the day and night and break loose with unabated fury on Saturday.

Half of the estimated 15,000 that will witness the annual clash between the Red and Black of Georgia and the Gold and White of Tech will not start from their respective homes until Saturday morning.

Tomorrow morning jitney busses, wagons, buggies, trains, autos of all descriptions will unload their human cargo in the Classic City, swarming it with a wildly yelling throng eager for the big game of the afternoon.

Athens Is Ready.

From Athens comes the following wire from The Constitution's correspondent, showing that Athens is ready for the hosts that will descend in her midst:

Athens, Ga., November 16.—(Special.) With the nippy weather which came down on this section the zest and pep and ginger and all that which is always tenser for the Tech-Georgia struggles than for any other games for the Red and Black, is rising and there is in the very atmosphere of the old college town the "feeling" of the big coming day of Saturday, when the Georgia Bulldogs will face the Tech Yellow Jackets for the supreme contest of the season. There is excitement and interest, practicing of new cheers and songs by the student body, rallies every night in the chapel of the university, learning of new airs by the band, preparations at Sanford field to take care of ten thousand fans, preparations uptown to decorate every place of business, to accommodate the multitudes with lunches and meals and whatever else they may want, and to handle the crowds and the thousands of automobiles with safety and satisfaction to everybody.

As to the Teams.

Reports from the two camps are one minute bear stories, the next stories of confidence, etc., until just what condition the two elevens will be when they line up on the field of battle will hardly be known in advance.

Petrie and Pew are the only doubtful ones in the Georgia camp, according to the latest reports. The former is suffering from a badly wrenched knee and there is considerable doubt as to his being able to play at all. If he does not, Beasley will be in his place. As for Pew, his case is doubtful. It will not be known until the last minute whether or not he can start. In case he does not, O. Reynolds, a brother of Jim, will play his end.

Garmany, the crippled center, who has been out of the game most of the season, is certain to start, according to all reports. His leg has come along splendidly during the past week.

"Altogether the team is in pretty fair shape," Coach Cunningham told The Constitution's correspondent. "The same line-up we used in Columbus against Auburn is about as near as I can announce it now."

From Tech comes the report that Mauck and Morrison are the main causes of worry on the part of the team and its coaches. The former's knee has never quite mended, while the latter has had a case of high fever the first part of the week, and while over it is in rather a weakened condition.

But Tech coaches are just like those of Georgia. They will not know what their starting line-up will be until the whistle blows.

Society in Force.

Last night the pre-game festivities started. Society took hold of the city in force. There were a dozen or more dances in Athens, while at the Colonial theater the Thalians' performance of "A Pair of Sixes" was largely attended, with brilliant box parties.

Several of the fraternities are entertaining house parties, and today and tonight there will be attractions for all the visitors in the city to keep them interested prior to the game.

After the game Saturday afternoon there will be a big soiree. There is also planned an alumni get-together meeting in addition to all the society plans.

Rallies at the chapel at Georgia and also at Tech's chapel have been held nightly this week and at the rallies tonight both here and in Athens rival speakers from the other schools will be on hand to cement a bond of friendship.

A Regular Game.

With the clear, crisp air prevailing, the prospects are for the best Georgia-Tech game in years, with many individual duels to bring out the spectacular from the fan standpoint.

Chief in interest among the latter will be the comparison that is certain to be made between Jim Reynolds, of Georgia, and Everett Strupper, of Tech, the aces in the deck of cards that the rival field generals will be dealing.

There is so little difference in the weight, height and strength of the rival rush lines that the battling between these two should be immense, and there are many who believe that owing to the way that they are matched it will take end running, forward passing or trick plays for either side to gain much yardage.

The contest in the center of the line between Bull Garmany, of Georgia, and Pup Phillips, of Tech, regarded by many as the best men at the pivotal positions the two schools have ever had, should awaken as much interest as the backfield duel.

Then there will be the contest between the various linemen, the comparison of the kicking of Donnelly with that of Strupper, the forward passing game of the two elevens.

Keyed to the minute, in the best possible shape that they can be brought in, with the usual spirit prevailing to upset their old rivals, it is no wonder that Athens is so wild with enthusiasm.

What Dope Shows.

The dope, the most fickle always on a Tech-Georgia game, gives little indication of what is in store for Saturday's spectators, less than in advance of any Tech-Georgia game in years.

The two sets of forwards look about the same. The team average, weight and height are about the same, so is the experience. This leaves it entirely up to the backfield. And for those attempting to name a winner, dope it this way:

Is Donnelly a better punter than Strupper or a better field goal kicker than Spence? Are Dezendorf and Donnelly better at hurling forward passes than Morrison or Strupper? Is Strupper a better broken field runner than J. Reynolds? Can Spence, Glover and Guill charge harder into a line than Neville or McLaws?

When you satisfy yourself on these points, then you can nominate a winner.

But to our way of thinking, the team that gets the breaks or that uncovers some real surprise in the way of a genuine trick play will be returned the winner.

So close does the game figure that, in our opinion, one touchdown will determine the winner, and if a touchdown is scored we do not believe the other team will be able to hammer down the other's defense.

The old Georgia star, Harold Ketron, who has helped in the last days coaching of a dozen football teams at Georgia, arrived today to help Coach Cunningham, Assistants Henderson and Paddock and Kid Woodruff and the rest of the trainers and advisers round the team into shape for Saturday. Light practice and explanation of half a dozen plays was the order in the secret work on Sanford field today.

At a great mass meeting of students of the university tonight the Georgians unanimously voted to meet the Tech special Saturday morning in a body to welcome them to Athens. The Georgia spirit was boiling over, but the spirit is of the right brand, and the engagement of Saturday, while it will be hot, will be a struggle of sportsmen. It is likely that there will be a complete change in the line-up. It is said that Garmany will likely play center and Pew and Wingate may be guardsmen. There is nothing definite, however, about the formation yet.

YALE AND PRINCETON READY FOR BIG GAME

Santa Monica, Cal., November 16.—Dario Resta won today the Vanderbilt cup for the second successive time; broke the Vanderbilt automobile road record by 11 miles an hour, with an average speed of 86.98 miles an hour for the 294.035 miles; set a new world's road race record and took the lead in the American Automobile association's $13,500 contest for the title of "champion driver of America." Resta's time was 3:22:48.4. It was a race unmarred by injury or death to contestants.

The three who finished next in order to Resta were: Earl Cooper, second, 3:30:40.4; William Weightman, third, 3:42:00.4; Clyde Roads, fourth, 3:54:45.4. Vail and Patterson, the only other survivors of the terrific strain on cars, were flagged while running.

Nineteen drivers started the long grind over the 8.401-mile triangular course at noon before an audience of thousands, banked high on temporary bleachers facing two deep hedges of "standing room" spectators that lined both sides of the course. Mechanical trouble caused most of the withdrawals, Boldon alone suffering from the dangerous turns. He skidded and was out on the thirty-first lap.

It was Resta's race soon after the start. He, Aitken and Cooper fought for honors from the first, while William Weightman, the Virginia sportsman, little reckoned with before the race, came home third.

Aitken took the lead in the first lap, with Cooper and Resta pursuing. They fought it out, with Resta steadily overcoming the handicap of his later start and pushing to the front in the fourteenth lap, with Aitken and Cooper trailing.

Resta widened his lead, lap after lap, and, following Aitken's withdrawal after the twentieth lap with a broken crankshaft, he maintained a steady pace.

The Italian's driving was not spectacular. He never varied on his turns, taking them with the same confidence he displayed on the straightaways.

Eddie Pullen was disqualified on his thirtieth lap for taking on gasoline near the Soldiers' home. He was in fourth place at the time of his disqualification. Boldon, who was forced out after a bad skid in the thirty-first lap, was the thirteenth man to quit.

Resta, in addition to acquiring additional laurels, added $4,000 to his receipts; Cooper received $2,000; Weightman $1,000, and Roads $500.

Santa Monica, Cal., November 16.—Dario Resta won the eleventh Vanderbilt cup road race here today, completing the 294.035 miles in 3:22:48 2-5.

This was an average speed of 86.99 miles an hour, more than 11 miles faster than the previous Vanderbilt record set by Ralph de Palma on the same track two years ago. Cooper was second.

Cooper's time was 3:30:40 2-5, more than four miles an hour slower. William Weightman was third. His time was 3:42:00 2-5.

Roads was fourth. His time was 3:54:45 1-5 Vail, Paterson and Pullen were flagged. Bolden skidded out in the thirty-first lap.

CHANCE OF STRIKE BY PLAYERS' FRAT

Serious Situation Caused by National Association's Tabling of Request Made by Players' Association.

New York, November 16.—The action of the National Association of Professional leagues in tabling without comment the request of the Players' fraternity at New Orleans yesterday threatens to bring about a clash between the two organizations that will have far-reaching effects.

Although officers of the fraternity refuse to talk for publication, it is known that there have been several recent conferences among the players prominent on the board of directors, and that a campaign of retaliation has been mapped out which may evolve a situation akin to a strike among the leading players of the major and minor leagues. It is apparent that the disposal of the fraternity's requests by the national association was surmised in advance and provisions made to force a reconsideration of the requests, both by the big and little league magnates.

Consider Claims Just.

The players contend that the request for the elimination in certain contracts of the "injury clause suspension; the right to sign new contracts upon receipt of unconditional release; allowance of traveling expenses to minor league players at the beginning of the training season, and a revision of the national board's procedure in handling cases brought up for decision by the fraternity" are just and equitable. They claim that they must be observed in the future if players and magnates are to work in harmony.

None of those in attendance at the recent conferences in this city would discuss methods considered for the enforcement of these demands, but it is known that every member of the Players' fraternity has signed a written agreement not to enter into contracts for 1917 until such time as fraternity officials consent. It is understood that less than twenty-five players in the two big leagues have contracts that hold over another season and that not more than one-quarter of these are members of the players' organization.

To Take Firm Stand.

The players have stated to friends that they believe the time has arrived when they must stand firm upon their rights if they are to be considered in the coming readjustment of professional baseball conditions. The report that Chairman Garry Herrmann, of the national commission, may be superseded at the next annual meeting of that body has caused apprehension among the members of the fraternity, as he is considered by that organization to take greater interest in the welfare of the players than the other members of the commission.

Players also are concerned in the reports of a possible third major league. The rumors of clubs being shifted from one city to another and the suit of the former Baltimore Federal league club against organized baseball. Several mysterious emissaries, thought to be connected with the latter club, whose suit for $900,000 will come to trial next February, are said to have approached prominent players whose contracts have expired and asked intimate questions regarding their treatment in the past and their plans for the future.

These, taken together with other interesting developments in baseball, have led the players to believe, it is understood, that a crisis is at hand. This has strengthened their determination to establish their status in connection with the professional game upon a firm basis which will prevent complications in the future.

Stiff Warning Given League.

Cincinnati, November 16.—The national baseball commission today not only dismissed the application of the Sioux City club, of the Western league, for a rehearing in the Kane case, but served notice on the Western league, as well as upon the Sioux City club, that "if the award is not fully adjusted within five days after promulgation of this finding the national agreement privileges which the Sioux City club and the Western league have enjoyed will be no longer respected."

During last September the commission reversed a finding of the national board and allowed a claim by Playeer Kane against the Sioux City club for salary from May 9 to July 17 at the rate of $225 per month, less a credit of $28.

The award against the Sioux City club was predicated on that club's refusal to permit the player to join the Wichita club unless under the terms of a gentlemen's agreement, which barred players released by one of the clubs in the league from signing with another club in this league, unless the releasing club was paid the league's waiver price of $400.

Nashville, Tenn.

Gentlemen: I have been a sufferer for quite awhile with stomach and liver trouble, and for about six weeks could hardly eat or drink anything without causing trouble. I consulted two physicians. They gave some relief, which was only temporary. Soon after this I saw your advertisement in a newspaper, and what your BOWERS' PREPARATION had done for two Nashville City employes, a Fire Captain and Policeman, and saw that their symptoms were just the same as in my case, so I immediately ordered a bottle, which swept a greenish mass from my system, including several gall stones. One bottle has entirely cured me. I am now very strong and have gained several pounds. Symptoms in my case were biliousness, coated tongue, drowsiness on rising in the morning, gas on stomach, and had a great deal of pain in stomach and sides. I write this hoping that it may reach some poor sufferers, that they may be persuaded to use BOWERS' PREPARATION and be cured thereby. You may tell the world. May the Lord bless and prosper you is my earnest desire.

I represent the Baptist cause in this community and shall always speak well of your preparation.

NO CHANGE IN LINE-UP OF 65TH CONGRESS

New House Still Stands: Republicans 217, Democrats 212, Others 6.

Washington, November 16.—No change in the apparent political alignment of the sixty-fifth congress has occurred thus far as a result of uncompleted canvassers of the votes in close districts.

Democratic leaders who had hoped to gain one member in the third Louisiana district were disappointed tonight when announcement was made of complete official returns showing that Whit P. Martin, progressive, had been elected over Wade Martin.

In the tenth North Carolina district where democratic leaders are predicting that canvass of the returns in Buncombe county will show Representative J. J. Britt, republican, to have been defeated by Zebulon Weaver, democrat, court proceedings have been instituted by the republican candidate which will delay the canvass until next week.

Representative Beakes, of the second Michigan district, who apparently was defeated on the unofficial returns, telegraphed today that an error had been found in Jackson county, which if corrected, would give him the election by fourteen votes over Mark R. Bacon, republican.

In the thirtieth Pennsylvania district today the canvass showed that Cldye Kelly, progressive, is gaining on William H. Coleman, republican, and the democrats still have some hope of overturning the result in the twenty-first Pennsylvania district, where C. H. Rowland, republican, has a slight majority over William E. Tobias, democrat.

Tonight the new house seems to stand: Republicans, 217; democrats, 212; others, 6. If the democrats win in the tenth North Carolina and second Michigan districts they will have 214 and the republicans 215. Should Kelly and Tobias also win in Pennsylvania the house would stand republicans, 213; democrats, 215; progressives, 3; progressive-protectionist, 1; independent, 1; socialist, 1; prohibitionist, 1.

Coffee.

New York, November 16.—The market for coffee futures was fairly active today, but part of the trading was in the way of switching from near to late months, and there was compartively little change in prices. The opening was unchanged to three points lower under offerings which seemed to come chiefly from trade sources and scattering liquidation probably inspired by the talk of numeroun offers from Brazil late yesterday. Houses with European connections were buyers, however, while there was also a moderate demand from Wall street and cotton trade houses on which prices rallied from 8.40 to 8.44 for May. This advance was not fully maintained with the market closing two points lower to three points higher. Sales, 50,750.

Spot coffee quiet; Rio 7's, 9¼; Santos 4's, 10½. Owing to the holiday today there were no official quotations from Brazil and no fresh offers were made in the cost and freight market here from Santos.

LIFE INSURERS MEET AT HOTEL ANSLEY
Almost a hundred members of the Atlanta Association of Life Insurers gathered at the regular monthly meeting held in the main dining room of the Hotel Ansley yesterday at noon. The meeting was presided over by R. F. Shedden, president of the association. R. F. Maddox and Dr. Fred F. Hoffman, of the home office of the Prudential Insurance company, and St. Elmo Massengale were among the guests.

An interesting talk was delivered by Mr. Maddox on the importance of business insurance, especially the insurance of the life of a business partner, or associate, so that the business would not suffer by the death of either. Another interesting talk was made on advertising by St. Elmo Massengale, of the Massengale Advertising agency.

Dr. Hoffman spoke on the undeveloped possibilities in the life insurance business. He said that little had been done in fathoming as yet the great possibilities of life insurance as a business. Dr. Hoffman spoke of the decision in the Virginia courts in the year 1860 to the effect that insurance was not connected with commerce as being decidedly erroneous, and went on to say that insurance is of vital interest to commerce, as all vessels that ply the sea are covered by insurance, as well as innumerable other commercial factors.

New York Financial.

New York, November 16.—(Special.)—Again the market advanced to a new high point late in the afternoon under the influence of the same character that has dominated the market for the past three months.

Transactions have been heavier today than yesterday, giving the impression to close observers that the interest was changing hands at high prices.

A reaction at the close was due to these realizing sales being more than the leaders were willing to absorb. It was rumored that the national ginners was 9.7, then after the close 9.8 is reported to be their figures to November 14, with a statement that it indicates ginning of less than eleven million bales.

Market sentiment tonight is again extremely bullish, though some of the older traders do not like the manner of the advance and are advising extreme caution, which advice no one pays any attention to.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, November 16.—(Special.)—Although general trend of prices was still upward today, the action of the market has become much more irregular. With values at such remarkably high levels much uncertainty exists among conservative traders and a tendency will likely be shown to watch a while before following the advance further. It may be well to accept profits on long cotton for the time being with the idea of replacing on setbacks, for the rapid advance, witnessed this week, especially since yesterday, has unquestionably weakened the technical position of the market. We are bullish, however, and believe advantage should be taken of any good decline to make purchases. Liverpool is due 5½ points higher for January contracts.

JOHNSTON, STORM & CO.

New York, November 16.—(Special.)—Today's prices practically brings 20 cents to the south for her spot cotton and the increased volume of offerings at that level should follow. Both inflation and enthusiasm have played an important part in the high price of cotton, but the fact that the money realized by the farmer for his seed and cotton which he has thus far sold is equal to the amount usually paid for an entire crop has also left that farmer a contributor to the bullishness of the occasion.

The speculative public outside of the cotton belt, impressed with what might happen with peace and over-confident that bullish predictions of famine were correct, are to a man bullish and they own from 100 to 16,000 bales each and in this indirect method are aiding in carrying the visible supply. Cautious cotton merchants who usually hedge their holdings are neglectful of so doing first because it has been unprofitable to do so, and second because the marginal requirements are so large and therefore the market meets no selling power and perhaps will meet none until these bulls try to liquidate, for it is doubtful if the new price of 20 cents in the south will furnish enough new cotton to seriously impair prices.

The question now remains: Will the buying power next spring which follows the hope of peace coming with the spring drive equal the selling power which will follow the increased acreage?

The question of famine is preposterous, for even admitting every claim of both production and consumption which bulls claim there will be no semblance of famine. The bulls claim a crop of 10,800,000, linters 1,100,000, old cotton about 900,000 and a visible supply of 2,235,000.

They claim the American mills will consume 6,500,000 new cotton and 1,000,000 of their warehouse stock. Great Britain they place at 3,250,000, the continent at 2,750,000 and Japan at 500,000. There is the possibility that their crop figures are too small and their consumption figures too large; if so, the carry-over will be relatively increased. We think October cotton at 19 cents an attractive sale.

RENSKORF, LYON & CO.

New York, November 16.—(Special.)—The market early today reached the highest prices of the season, which was due to persistent buying on the part of Liverpool as well as the domestic trade. While profit-taking sales were large, they had no effect in stemming the upward trend of the market. Southern advices regarding the demand for spot cotton are very bullish and the general strength of the trade situation makes it appear that still higher prices are inevitable.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

Again Thursday morning Liverpool and New York spot firms were large buyers during the first hour. It was said that eastern mills were buying quite freely through Weld & Co., local New York traders, led by Mr. Castles, contributed their share to the strength. Contracts were sparingly offered and hard to buy. Spot news becomes more bullish as the price goes higher. Mr. Castles and Heineken & Vogelsang were large buyers in the last hour.

One of our spinner friends in North Carolina wired us today that he had instructions from Catlin & Co. to forward his yarn output by express car load. This does not look like an overproduction of yarns. Indeed this is a startling contrast to the situation just after the war broke out, when raw cotton was selling below 6 cents and yarns could not be given away. Now it looks as if yarn was considered in the same category with jewelry. We believe the next ginners' report, which will be issued on the 21st instant, will be very, very bullish.

RUMORED EMBARGO BRINGS WHEAT DOWN

Unfounded Assertions Are That Wilson Will Recommend Action to Congress. Net Decline 1 to 2 1-4 Cents

Chicago, November 16.—Apparently unfounded assertions that President Wilson would make recommendations to congress relative to an embargo on foodstuffs did a good deal today to weaken the price of wheat. Closing quotations were heavy at 1 to 2 1-4c net decline, with December at $1.85 1-4 to $1.85 3-8 and May at $1.90 7-8 to $1.90 1-8. Corn finished 3-8@1-2c off to 1-2@5-8c up; oats unchanged, and provisions varying from 5c loss to a rise of 45c.

Denials, said to be from the white house, that the president would favor an embargo on wheat came too late to act as a check today on the bears. Besides, the fact that British buyers seemed to be out of the market and had done nothing in the last few days counted seriously against the bulls, and so also did rumors that much British vessel tonnage had been switched to Australia and to India. In this connection, stress was laid on announcements that the India government had sanctioned exporting to England, France and Italy in November, December and January, 13,000,000 bushels of wheat. The result was that an early bulge in prices was much more than offset, especially toward the last of the session, when the embargo talk was rife.

Willingness that holders evinced to take profits was a notable factor throughout the day in the wheat pit, even during the first couple of hours, notwithstanding that prices were then on the upgrade. The early strength was chiefly due to advices that hot winds were damaging the crop in southern Argentina, and that yields there were light.

Corn finally weakened with wheat. For the greater part of the day, however, the corn market was higher, influenced by reports that the new corn crop in Argentina was a complete failure.

Oats held within a comparatively narrow range. Seaboard handlers figure that oats from the United States can be laid down in London 30 cents a bushel cheaper than shipments from Argentina.

Signs of Belgian relief buying made provisions average higher. Declines in the hog market were virtually ignored.

Sugar.

New York, November 16.—The local market for raw sugar was unchanged today with further offerings of Cubas at 5⅝c, cost and freight, but without attracting the attention of refiners. There were sales of full duty sugars aggregating about 5,000 bags afloat and in port at 5½c, cost and freight, which is about equivalent to the basis of 6.40 for centrifugal duty paid. The market closed steady at 6⅜c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 6.40 for centrifugal and 5.53 for molasses.

There was no change in refined sugar and business was again of small proportion with only moderate withdrawals on old contract. Prices were quoted at 7.50 for fine granulated by all refiners.

Price changes in sugar futures were irregular, although trading was not particular active, the day's business amounting to 2,750 tons. The market opened firmer at 3 to 6 points advance on covering prompted by unfavorable crop conditions in both the domestic beet and sugar cane sections, but toward the close values eased off under liquidation and selling by commission houses due to the freer offerings of sugar in the spot market, with closing prices 6 points lower to 1 point net higher.

New York, November 16.—Heavy realizing sales were absorbed on comparatively slight reactions during today's earlier trading in the cotton market, and new high records were established in the afternoon, with May contracts selling at 20.80, or 36 points above last night's closing figures. That delivery closed at 20.72, with the general list closing irregular at net gains of 25 to 28 points on the old crop and of 1 to 4 points on new crop deliveries.

The market opened steady at an advance of 17 points to a decline of 8 points, with near months relatively steady in response to higher Liverpool cables. Early fluctuations were very nervous and irregular. There appeared to be a good deal of cotton for sale around 20½c for May contracts, and the talk on the floor suggested that part of it came from reactionists. Wall Street and Western realizing were much in evidence, but trade interests were big buyers, while there was also a good demand here from the south & Liverpool connections. This took care of the cotton on moderate setbacks, and the market developed increased strength and activity during the afternoon on a renewal of bull support, which was encouraged by reports of strong spot markets. Early sellers covered on the advance, while there was also rebuying by old longs, with the market selling up to 20.80 for January and 20.64 for march. At this level realizing again set in and the close showed reductions of 6 or 8 points from the best.

Some of the early selling was probably encouraged by reports that one of the leading western distributors of dry goods was advising retail merchants to buy only from hand to mouth and clean up odds and ends of stock. It was reported that domestic spinners, and particularly New England spinners, were calling cotton freely during the day, and much of the trade buying here was supposed to be for this account. Liverpool reported a continued fair demand in the market there with very few contracts for sale except realizing on a scale-up.

Spot cotton steady; middling uplands, 20.40; no sales.

New Orleans Gains 24-29 Points.

New Orleans, November 16.—Persistent buying at times on a large scale sent the cotton market to new high records today, July trading up to 20.54 cents a pound and the January option working up to 19.99, or to within one point of $100 a bale, the highest prices ever known in this future market. Spot prices were lifted 13 points to 19.63 for middling, a new high level. At the best of the day contracts were 33 to 38 points over yesterday's last quotations, a net rise of nearly $2 a bale on the most active months. Toward the close there was a wave of profit-taking and last prices were 24 to 29 points up on the official tone of barely steady.

The rise started in Liverpool and early prices here were nearly $1 a bale up. With several small setbacks under realizing, the market gradually advanced until late in the day it was at its highest. Bullish spot accounts, the continued cold weather over the belt, bullish predictions regarding the pending ginning report, small crop estimates and covering of belated shorts were the factors that worked for the improvement.

Impulse Given Stock Trading by Confident Public. More Than Score of Stocks Reach New High Prices.

New York, November 16.—Trading in today's market was characterized by a degree of extravagance and activity rarely surpassed in any of the previous bull movements of the last two years. Aside from recognized basic conditions of a highly favorable character, there were no developments to explain the movement which received much of its impulse from a confident public and the usual professional sources.

There were scarcely any exceptions to the upswing, which comprehended an unusual number and variety of issues, many of a purely speculative character. A better inquiry for rails also served to benefit that division, though advances in that quarter were relatively nominal and not well maintained.

More than a score of stocks achieved new maximums, foremost among these being Gulf States Steel common, which rose 24 points to 193, with 33 for the second preferred at 190. A large part of this gain was surrendered later. Other high records included Lackawanna Steel at 105, Sloss-Sheffield Steel at 93¾, Republic Iron at 87¾, several of the more prominent coppers, such as Anaconda, Chino and Inspiration, Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, Corn Products preferred, American Writing Paper preferred, Pressed Steel Car, Detroit Railways and smelters securities preferred "B." In these and kindred issues gross advances ran from fractions to 3 and even 5 points, with 1 to 2 for Pacifics, Grangers and trunk lines. Minor rails were irregular, but mainly higher. Chicago and Alton common and preferred improving by 3 to almost 7 points.

United States Steel held its leadership as the most active stock, but again closed at only a net fractional gain. Central Leather regained a large part of its recent decline at an extreme gain of 5½ points. Total sales amounted to 2,100,000 shares.

Bonds were strong, with buoyancy in Chile Copper 7's and Lackawanna Steel 5's. Total sales, par value, $6,690,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

At last something in the grocery line has declined in price. All grades of coffee are off a half cent per pound. Sugar, too, is easier. Cheese advanced last week about 3 cents. Canned vegetables are increasingly difficult to find even at high record prices. Practically all canned goods that have retailed at 10c for years will now have to be sold at 15c. Seemingly, no relief in sight until next year's crop.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES

From Day to Day

The sale of a north side apartment house featured real estate news yesterday.

The transaction was handled by the Smith & Ewing Realty company.

This agency sold for L. Ball, of Bainbridge, to a client Nos. 32 and 34 East avenue, the consideration being $45,000.

This property consists of a three-story brick apartment house, fronting 50 feet on the north side of East avenue, 200 feet west of the northwest corner of North Boulevard, and having a depth of 120 feet. It contains twelve renting spaces, which are all leased.

This apartment house was recently sold by A. W. Farlinger.

Bradstreet's Returns on Building.

Building trade activity surged forward in October, and values of building permitted for in that month showed a very large gain over October a year ago, a month which in turn showed a very heavy gain over the like period two years ago. Returns to Bradstreet's Journal from 141 cities in fact roll up a total estimated expenditure never before equaled in that autumn month. Following are the October and ten months' records of building expenditures for six years past:

	October.	Ten months
1916	$82,951,962	$847,395,984
1915	66,494,787	685,755,778
1914	52,535,818	697,223,189
1913	66,141,492	759,266,333
1912	73,128,886	787,604,000
1911	60,746,617	731,762,927

The ten months' expenditure so far outlined, with a number of cities yet to hear from, exceeds that of the entire year 1915, and is 7.6 per cent greater than that done in the best year hitherto reported, that of 1912.

"Hog-Killing Time" Is Overcoat Time

By Just Bob, By Himself

BOB HAYES

These frosty mornings are here. Makes me think of the squeal of the pig as he is being led to the slaughter.

I am certainly making a "killing" with my line of swell $15 OVERCOATS.

If you haven't got yours yet—it's time. First thing you know you'll be "squealing" about the cold weather.

But, seriously, I have never had a larger or better made-up line of $15 OVERCOATS. Every one of good material—made right—carrying style and value. It's such a pleasing assortment I just want you to come in and look 'em over.

I can say the same about my $25 OVERCOATS. If you want one equal to any man's $35 Coat—come to see me.

My $15 SUITS are going so fast and so good, it's hardly necessary to say anything about 'em. If you need a suit you'll pick one from among my $15 or $25 ones.

HATS at $2 and a full line of Furnishings always on hand—for town friends or country friends.

Come to see me—you're welcome.

JUNK GATHERERS TO FIGHT HIGH TAX IN SUPREME COURT

Junk gatherers will continue in business without paying the $300 license if they appeal the case on a swift writ, according to a decision handed down Thursday by Judge J. T. Pendleton, whose order dissolved the injunction, but protects the property right of all parties until the case is passed on by the supreme court.

Following his decision dissolving the restraining order in the case of Atlanta's junk gatherers against the city Judge J. T. Pendleton granted a supersedeas Thursday noon, which in effect allows the junk men to continue in business without paying the $300 license complained of in their injunction, so that the supreme court will be given an opportunity of passing on several close questions of law without working hardship to the peddlers, whose testimony was that if they had to pay a $300 license they would be forced out of business.

The court's order gives the junk gatherers, who are represented by Attorneys Owens Johnson, T. B. Felder and Leonard Grossman, a fortnight to pay the costs required to appeal and furnish through their attorneys the necessary bill of exceptions.

GRIFFIN GOES LIMIT IN WILSON CELEBRATION

Griffin, Ga., November 16.—(Special.) A great democratic celebration was held in Griffin last night in honor of President Wilson and the recent victory of the party. A parade, in which hundreds of loyal democrats took part, formed at the confederate monument on Hill street at 7 o'clock and all joined in the biggest demonstration Griffin has known in years.

Following the parade an interesting program was carried out, at which Senator Hoke Smith and Senator Thomas W. Hardwick delivered able and interesting addresses.

MRS. MAUD MONK HERE

Anxious to Avoid Testifying at Mrs. Adams' Trial.

Mrs. Maud Monk, who gave out a sensational interview after the shooting of Captain E. J. Spratling by Mrs. Mattie Adams, the Atlanta woman now in jail in Macon, where the killing occurred, is in Atlanta in seclusion to keep from being called upon to testify in the coming court proceedings against Spratling's slayer.

She has been in the city several days. It was reported that her presence in the city was due to some angle of the investigation being made into the case, but this she denies. She told a reporter for The Constitution that her trip to Atlanta was solely for the purpose of avoiding any further connection with the case. Mrs. Monk told the officers at Camp Harris of her alleged relations with Captain Spratling and declared Mrs. Adams was actuated by jealousy.

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED BY C. OF GA. WORK TRAIN

Macon, Ga., November 16.—(Special.) Emory L. Jarrett, driver of one of the Southern Express company's automobile trucks, was instantly killed this afternoon when the truck was struck by a Central of Georgia work train at the Vineville crossing, in Macon.

The truck had started across the tracks before Jarrett saw the train approaching. He attempted to jump, but was too late, the engine striking him and crushing his head to a pulp.

Jarrett had been in the employ of the company for three years. He was unmarried and made his home with his sister, Mrs. T. C. Rankin, 455 Carling avenue.

UNDECIDED AS TO SITE FOR AVIATION STATION

Washington, November 16.—Although a board of officers of the coast guard service has reported in favor of establishing the first coast guard aviation station somewhere in Hampton Roads, prices on available sites have appeared so prohibitive that it may be decided to place the station elsewhere.

The station is planned as the nucleus of an extensive coast guard aerial service and while officials would prefer to have it on Hampton Roads, it was said today the station might be forced into another locality by prohibitive land prices.
